Statement of Significance: (Reference names, dates, events, areas of significance/study unit themes)

Date of Construction: 1892

Architect/Builder: W.H. Burrow, Architect, John Carr, Builder.

Historical Significance:

The house was built for Arthur Oppenheimer who was co-owner of Oppenheimer & Smith, pioneer hardware store. Dr. Edwin Hugh Van Patten, graduate of Rush Medical School, owned the house for years. His name is set in brass in the front walk. Van Patten was business partner in Edwards & Hindle's Department Store, owned farm land, and practiced medicine. The house is currently owned by Dmitri & Iris Borgmann. Borgmann, the man who invented the work EXXON, is a nationally known writer, researcher and crossword puzzle creator, runs his business out of the home.

Additional Description of Physical Appearance & Significant Architectural Features: (Architectural significance; can include interior & site features; address integrity issues specifically)

Large corner lot; cross gable hip Queen Anne with decorative shingle work in gable; dentil coursing under belt of gable; flared decorative shingle work at second floor line. Half round window in gable. Eyebrow window above entry on hip. Cutaway bay with corner brackets. Side balcony with round pillars, spindlework and pendants. The house is in need of work, but very much intact.

Interior: Stair has spindle work overhead and curved balusters. Doors: decorative panelled. Stained glass window at bay. Oak floors; oak fireplace mantel, very elaborate and decorative.

MAJOR JOHN CARR

Major John Carris now living retired in Dayton but in former years was an active factor in industril circles, being connected with building operations with the lumber and planing mill business.

Wisconsin numbers him among her native sons, his birth having occurred in that state January 2, 1852, his parents being Nicholas and Anna Carr. He acquired his education in the public schools of Wisconsin and after his text-books were put aside learned the carpenter's and builder's trade, which he followed for a considerable period. Eventually he branched out into other lines and became identified with theoperation of a lumber and planing mill. He has been a resident of Washington since 1877 and conducted business at Dayton for several years. Untiring industry and perservance constituted important factors in his growing success and as the years passed on he acquired a substantial competence which now enables him to live retired and enjoy all of the comforts and many of the luxuries of life.

In 1872, in Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, Major Carr was united in marriage to Miss Anna Nims, a daughter of Loyal and Sylvia Nims. They have become parents of three children: Flora, who died in childhood; Lolo, the wife of Fred Harman; and Beulah, the wife of Byron Matzger.

Major Carr's military record is an interesting one. He served as a captain and lieutenant colonel in the state militia for many years and was made a major of the First Washington Regiment at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, thus winning the title by which is known. He has rendered effective service to his city along many lines of development and progress, has served for seven years as school director, as amember of the city council for nine years and was mayor for one year. Fraternally he is well known as a Mason and has attained the Knight Templar degre of the York Rite and the thirty-second degree of the Scottish Rite, while with the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine he has also crossed the sands of the desert. For five years he was master of his lodge, was also high priest of the Royal Arch chapter for a year and has held various other offices in the Masonic fraternity. His religious faith is that of the Episcopal church and its teachings have guided him in all the relations of life, making hima a man whom to know is to esteem and honor. His worth is widely acknowledged in citizenship, in business circles and in social relations. He has ever been loyal and patriotic in his devotion to his country, manifesting his allegiance in military aid when such was necessary and standing at all times for those interests and projects which he has believed to be of worth to the community, the commonwealth and the country.

OLD HOUSE

The Bob Johnson home, at 310 South Third Street, is likely as any built in in Dayton. It was built in 1871, as a one storey house with only four rooms. The same year there were about 40 other houses built in the town of Dayton.

In 1898 Major John Carr bought the house when he returned from serving in the Spanish American War. He remodled the house and added several rooms and made it a three story Victorian style home. The house contains many windows of several different shapes and sizes. There is an extended by window on the second floor and a small porch of the opposite side of the house. There are three large bedrooms on the second floor and a small room on the third floor, at the top of the winding stairway.

The one thing that sets this house apart from others is on the third floor, it has a second room referred to as the "Indian Room". This room is about 8 by 10 feet with a ptiched ceiling. It is made of finished lumber and it has no windows. There is only one small door to the Indian Room, and that is trought the third floor room, at the top of the stairs. Julian Hawthorne - Editor

CARR, JOHN, a popular citizen of Dayton, Wash., was born in Wisconsin in 1851. His father, Nicholas Carr, was a New Yorker and a farmer by occupation, his mother being from Wisconsin. Young Carr was educated in the public schools of his native State and resided there until 1873, when he came to Washington, stopping one year at Salt Lake City on his way thither. Locating at Dayton, he found employment in a planing mill, then became interested in furniture and undertaking. After three years he returned to milling, in which he is still engaged. Mr. Carr married, in 1874, Miss Anna Nims, of New York. They have two children. Mr. Carr has filled with great acceptation various civil offices, having been a Member of the City Council of Dayton, and being the present Chief of its Fire Department. He is also prominent in national guard matters. His handsome residence now in course of construction bids fair to supply all the external needs of a home. His library is extensive and his interest in educational matters unfailing, having been a member of the School Board for upward of twelve years. He is a Mason of the thirty-second degree, and a member of the Knights of Pythias. He is a Democrat in politics, a worker in all matters for the advancement of the city where he dwells, and is generally esteemed by his fellow-citizens.

UP AND DOWN MAIN STREET.

In a stroll up and down main street, starting at

Wait's mill, which is always busy, you pass the Millinery store, kept by Mrs. S. E. Tarbox, where the ladies find a large and elegant assortment of millinery goods. Next is a

Bakery and sort of family grocery store. Then you pass a Drug store, Loren L. Day proprietor, where pure and fresh drugs and chemicals are dispensed. Next is the Temple of Justice, where Judge J. F. Martin, administers the law, and Sheriff Steen keeps his office. T. H. Crawford also has his law office in the same building. On the corner is

The Brick store, owned and occupied by Messrs. McDonald & Schwabacher; they keep a large and splendid stock and assortment of dry goods, groceries, hardware and general merchandise. On the next corner is another

Brick store, occupied and owned by Messrs. Guernsey & Wolfe; they keep a large and well selected stock of merchandise, everything that is called for. Next is a brick building, now under way, and will be occupied by

Paine Bros. & Brewster as an agricultural establishment, also a store house for the Factory goods. Adjoining is

W. A. Belcher's agricultural emporium, where many a wagon, reaper, plow and farming implement is sold. Next is a

Sewing machine establishment, with Mr. J. B. Loomis proprietor, where the new reliable White machine is kept. And then another Agricultural ware house is found, superintended by Mr. T. M. May, who is just fairly commencing business. And then you find a Blacksmith shop, with Wagner & Carroll constantly at work, for farmers and teamsters must have blacksmithing done. The next establishment is being fitted up for a dry goods store.

The Millinery store, kept by Mrs. P. A. Hancock, is an attractive place for ladies, where they find an endless variety of millinery goods. Next is

Drs. Day & Van Dusen's office, homeopathic physicians, but very popular with the people. Next is a Butcher shop, kept and owned by J. L. Smith, where juicy steaks and fresh meats are always on the hooks. Then

Law office, where M. A. Baker attends to legal matters. On the corner we find a Hotel

Saloon, where many reporters would stop, but crossing the street you pass the large

Stage barn, owned by M. Fettis, the popular stage man. Next is an 1878

Undertaker's establishment, D. B. Kimball proprietor, where neat coffins and caskets are kept, and undertaking in all its branches attended to. Then you pass a Blacksmith shop, where Mr. Cook is always busy, then you pass a

Printing office, and in a few steps arrive at a

Furniture establishment, Charles Corothers proprietor. Charley keeps on hand and manufactures a good stock and quality of furniture. We come to the Paint shop, where Prof. R. H. Condon spends many hours in sign and ornamental painting. He is an artist and no mistake. Crossing the street we arrive at the Wagon makers and blacksmiths shop of D. A. & H. J. Torrence, who are thorough workmen in all their branches. Starting down the street from here you come to the Tin and hardware store, kept by David Wood, and a large stock of material always on hand. Adjoining,

W. A. Moody has laid the foundation and commenced to build his mammoth music hall. The next place is a

New business house being built by Messrs. Burge. From there you step onto the side walk in front of the CHRONICLE office, only $3 a year, in advance, wide awake and newsy. Next is a

Saddle and harness maker's shop, J. A. Gavitt proprietor, where work in that line is promptly attended to. And next door is the Undertaker and upholster establishment, L. D. Drake proprietor, where everything in that line of business is carried on to perfection. Drake is a fine workman, and thoroughly understands every department of his business. And now we come to the Livery stable, J. B. Shrum proprietor, where good turn-outs can be had, and a first class livery business is carried on. Adjoining is a

Drug store, Dr. A. Shone proprietor, where prescriptions are carefully compounded out of pure medicines. The Dr. has made medicine his life study, and what he does is from knowledge. Next is a

Law office, where R. F. Sturdevant can always be found, Bob. is a reliable attorney, and his advice is always based upon well studied law. And now we come to another

Saloon, the "Sample Rooms" Geo. K. Reed proprietor, where every description of wet groceries can be had, and a fine lot of cigars always on hand. Then we come to a Doctor's office, where Drs. Kennedy, Littlefield & Boyd, can be found when not professionally engaged. And next door is a

Drug store, W. S. Newland proprietor, and Emil Bories pharmacist; this is a new establishment and consequently their stock is new and fresh. Then we come to a

Hardware establishment, Paine Bros. & Brewster proprietors, where is kept everything in the hardware line, from a cambric needle to headers and threshers, everything. On the corner we find

I. N. Arment's depot of everything, a thorough variety store; just go and see for yourself the endless variety of articles in Arment's store, it would take a newspaper page to enumerate them. On the other corner stands the Columbia Hotel, where the hungry are made glad, with well supplied tables of substantial food. And next you come to the

P. O. building, occupied on one side by Geo. N. Matzger, with books, stationary, inks, etc. etc. On the other side Frank Day keeps a large stock of tobacco and cigars, candies, nuts, confectionaries, etc. etc. Next is a

Tailor shop, where J. O. Swartz does merchant tailoring to the entire satisfaction of all his customers. And we come to a Butcher shop, Connelly & King proprietors, where the best of the land can be found on their hooks. Customers find here fresh and tender meats. Next is a Saloon, Knox & Byrd proprietors, where fine wines, liquors and cigars are kept. This is a neatly furnished saloon, The next is a Shoemaker's shop, but we believe it is closed. Then we come to the Barber shop, where Young & Storer use sharp razors and clean towels, and understand their business to perfection. Adjoining is a Restaurant, and near by a large frame building is going up. Then you come to a

DAYTON'S BUSINESS HOUSES.

J. B. LOOMIS opened out his neat variety store on Oct. 4th, 1878, since which time his conspicuous corner has attracted the attention of those who purchase in the range from a sewing machine down to a hair pin. Tobacco, cigars, confectionery, clocks, etc., grace his tidy shelves. Next we arrive at the commodious store and warehouse of who have been conducting a very thrifty and acceptable business since the infancy of the town. These genial gentlemen have been administering to the temporal wants of our people since their establishment in business. Their fall and winter stock has crammed all the apartments of the house, salesroom, warehouse and cellar. They take grain and produce in exchange for goods. Step one door farther and see

NEWLAND AND PUGH'S

new drug store, which is an ornament to the town. These gentlemen moved about a week since to their neat and convenient quarters, and are now ready to surprise the most experienced with their large stock and cheap sales. There you will find fancy and toilet goods, lamps, glass, and all kinds of drugs and chemicals; prescriptions compounded at all times. Now we conclude our stroll by halting at the new brick of

PAINE BROS. AND BREWSTER.

This old and well established firm moved into their new brick about Sept. 1st, 1878, where they now display the best assortment of hardware and tinware in the country. Their stock seems to be complete though they are constantly increasing it. The manufactory of their own tinware and the connection of this establishment with the Paine Bros. & Brewster house in Walla Walla, enables them to sell way down at bedrock prices.

7 Dec 1878

DAYTON'S BUSINESS HOUSES.

Again we resume our round; leaving Paine Bros. & Brewster's one door, we are facinated with the fine show window of

BILLY SPARKS'

Saloon. Walk in and you find the finest display of everything that is found in his branch of business including a fine billiard table and equipments; but no time to rest, let us look into harness shop, and "behold the multitude" who, tired of the old, go there to replenish with new harness, saddles, whips and everything that puts a polish on equestrian locomotion.

WAGNER AND CARROLL

are still found at the old stand busy as ever working away 'mid the busy din and clang of hammer and anvil. Both are old and good workmen; but we must leave old vulcan in his glory and call on

CLENDENIN AND MILLER.

This house was established in July last and carries a brand new and well assorted stock of general merchandise. Messrs. Clendenin & Miller have another store at Steilacoom; adieu to merchandise at present and examine stock of agricultural machinery. This firm was first represented in Dayton near a year ago, since which time it has had its share of business; there you will find the La Belle wagon, Brown sulky and gang plow, seeders, drills and plows. Let us now conclude with a halt at meat market, the oldest establishment of the kind in town. "Everybody comes and everybody goes well pleased" because they can get what they want, at reasonable prices.

THE SOAP MANUFACTURING ENTERPRISE.—Messrs. Walt & McQuarrie are constantly increasing the capacity of their establishment, and improving the quantity and quality of their stock. They have one boiler of 3,000 lbs capacity, which will make 600 boxes of soap per week; they have in progress another boiler; in addition to this they have a steam boiler which will be used in rendering lard, heating water, etc. A chemical room is now completed, which will very soon be filled with material as they are looking for a $1,000 order and have since ordered more. These gentlemen expect after a while to manufacture candles, lard oil, axel grease, etc. This enterprise deserves the support and encouragement of every live man east of the Cascades, for it is estimated that the annual cost to ship this article from San Francisco to Idaho and Washington Territories is $100,000, besides this enormous duty, we ship a large amount of the material used in this identical soap to the manufactories in San Francisco to be sent back to us. The tallow, lard, resin, and other ingredients of soap are superabundant in our Territories, and the idea of shipping it away, then re-shipping it as we have done heretofore, is a queer kind of economy. If the soaps made at this establishment here in Dayton are yet inferior to those made in the East or San Francisco, deserved patronage, will enable it to make as good a quality and cheaper than any other manufactory can, and thus we are enabled to keep the money in the country for circulation.

DAYTON.

Dayton, the county seat of Columbia county, is the present terminus of the Dayton branch of the O. R. & N. Co.'s railroad, distant by rail from Walla Walla 39 miles, and by wagon road 28, contains a population of about fourteen hundred inhabitants. Although it has suffered grievously from fire and epidemics in the past year, it still raises its head against all obstacles, and its growth has not been sensibly checked for an instant. Its burnt district is being rapidly built up and brick structures have replaced nearly all the frail edifices consumed by the fires. Dayton has amongst its citizens and business men, very many of advanced and progressive ideas. The location of the town is one of the best in the Territory, being in the midst of fine agricultural lands, yielding yearly immense crops of the different cereals. The Touchet river flowing through the town furnishes excellent water power for manufacturing purposes. At present its waters are utilized by the Dayton Woolen Mills, and the flouring mills of Wait & Prather and Kinney & Morris, and the planing mill of Carr & Bloomer. Two papers are published here, the Columbia Chronicle, by Wilson & McCully, and the Democratic State Journal, by T. O. Abbott. Both are well conducted and receive a liberal support, which is only the measure of their merit. The town is supplied with schools, churches, a well appointed building for theatrical representations, and a public library.

ISSAC CARSON; lives in Dayton; is a farmer and stockman; owns 320 acres of land; born in Hendricks Co., Indiana, August 1, 1832; came to Oregon in 1853, to the Territory in 1861, and to this county in 1873.

W. H. CARSON: lives in Dayton; is a bookkeeper, was born in Cumberland, Caleton Co., Ontario, Canada, in 1855; came to California in 1875, and to this county in 1879.

Article found in "TIME WAS" by Jim B. Schick

Art Carson tells how as kids they would sneak down to Hop Sing's garden to steal something. This would make Hop Sing very angry, so one day he grabbed a hot-gun and banged away at the boys. He probably aimed over their heads, because they heard the shot hit the fence. But the boys beat it as fast as they could run, and they never tried to steal again.

Mr. Darsell died in 1956, and Mrs. Darsell returned to Payton.

In 1959, she and her daughter, Mrs. Jean McFarque purchased a variety store on Main Street that was to become Jean's Variety. She was involved in the operation of Jean's until 1975.

In 1970, she married Lester Darson in Waitsburg. They vintered in Querstite, Arizona between 1970 and 1975.

Darson's main hobby was fishing and she enjoyed it for many years and despite her ill-health since 1975.

She was a member of the Payton Christian Church.

She is survived by her husband at the family home; a daughter, Mrs. Sam (Jean McFarque' and a son, Jack Darsell of Miami, Florida. She is also survived by five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, December 3, at 11 a.m. at Rubbard-Sage Funeral Chapel. The Rev. Greg Brownell officiated. A private interment was held in Lewiston, Idaho.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Columbia County Ambulance Fund.

WIFE OF PIONEER PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. Mary Ann Carson Came to State in 1863 on Wedding Trip.

Mrs. Mary Ann Carson, 74 years old, one of the early pioneers of Washington, passed away quietly last night about 11 o'clock, after a lingering illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma C. McCully. Mrs. Carson was born in Kentucky in 1843. She married Isaac Carson in 1858 at her old home in Kentucky and came to Oregon on her wedding trip, coasting down the Atlantic in a wind-jammer, crossing the Isthmus of Panama, and sailing in a small boat up the Pacific coast to San Francisco. From California, with a party of settlers, Mr. and Mrs. Carson drove to Oregon and later to this state, arriving at Fort Steilacoom in 1863.

Member of Pioneers.

Mrs. Carson is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Emma C. McCully, of Olympia; Mrs. J. R. Peters, of Portland, and Mrs. Dewey D. Day, of Tacoma, and six grandchildren, of whom Merritt L. McCully, of Olympia, is the oldest. She was a member of the Tacoma Eastern Star and the Pierce County Pioneer association. The body is at Jesse T. Mills' and will be taken to Tacoma for burial beside her husband, who died several years ago. Both Mrs. McCully and Merritt McCully were at the bedside when Mrs. Carson passed away.

The career of Isaac Carson, who died several years ago, is well known in pioneer annals of the state. He was an Indian fighter of renown, one of the first sheriffs of Pierce county, a member of the Washington Territorial legislature in 1885. He moved with his family to Olympia in 1890 and lived here for a number of years.—Olympian.

The Carsons were residents of Columbia county for many years. Their farm is a mile east of Dayton, and the substantial dwelling thereon still stands, and is still known as the Carson place.

When the Carsons were all here their home was an attractive place to visit.

30 July 1936

Mrs. J. R. Peters

John Brining has received a letter from Mrs. Emma C. McCulley of Olympia, the former Miss Emma Carson of this city, telling of the death of her sister, Allie, Mrs. J. R. Peters.

Mrs. Peters was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Carson, very early settlers of Columbia county, and she spent her girlhood here. The Carsons owned the farm just beyond Syndicate hill which is now owned by Prof. Strong of Oberlin, Ohio, and is farmed by the Courtneys, and their home was just above the spot where the cannery now stands. The family was one of the most prominent in the communty in early days, and their home was a social center.

Mrs. Peters died at her home in Camas July 24. She had been in poor health for some time, but her condition had not been considered alarming. Death came during her sleep at about 2 a. m. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. C. F. Story of Camas, with whom she had been making her home the last four years, and a son, Lester R. Peters, of San Francisco.

Mrs. Peters was a prominent member of the Willamette chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.
