James Harlan Passes Away at Family Home

Funeral services for James Harlan were held from the Methodist church Monday at ten o'clock with the Rev. H. E. Bashor officiating. Burial was made in the family plot of the Odd Fellows' cemetery in Walla Walla. The great number of floral offerings and the unusually large attendance, which taxed the church to its capacity, as well as the score of autos accompanying the body to Walla Walla, reflect the high esteem in which Mr. Harlan has held by the immediate community and county.

James Harlan was born on a farm near Dayton May 22, 1879. On June 4, 1905 he was united in marriage to Miss Ada Stovall of Dayton. It was in 1908 that Mr. and Mrs. Harlan moved to Oregon where they resided at LaGrande and also at Joseph. In 1918 they returned to Dayton where they have lived since. Two girls of the family are deceased, one of whom was taken in infancy, and the other at the age of 13 years. Also one boy died at the age of eight years.

Mr. Harlan was an expert mechanic and well known for both his integrity and skill at his work. A short time was spent as a machinist at the Bremerton Naval yards during war time, was at one time in business with G. E. Bartell now of Walla Walla, and had most recently been in the employ of the Geo. F. Price company.

After nearly two years of serious heart affliction, Mr. Harlan passed away on Friday, April 21 at the family residence on South Third street. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Ada Harlan, one daughter, Lola, and two brothers, John of Santa Barbara, California, and Henry of Dayton.

Ada Harlan

d. 2-10-79

Ada Francis Harlan, 90, 534 Boyer Ave., died at the Odd Fellows Home, Saturday.

Memorial services will be at 2 p.m., Tuesday, at the First Presbyterian Church Chapel. Private family graveside services will be at 1 p.m., Tuesday, in the Odd Fellows Cemetery with the Rev. Volus McEachern officiating.

Friends who wish to pay their respects may call at the Munselle-Rhodes Funeral Home until 12:15 p.m., Tuesday. Memorial contributions may be made to the Grace Presbyterian Church, Milton-Freewater, Ore.

Mrs. Harlan was born May 15, 1888 in Covello in Columbia County. Her parents were Francis and Susan Stovall.

She attended school in Covello. She married James M. Harlan in Covello, June 4, 1905. In 1918 they moved to La Grande, Ore. They later moved to Dayton where her husband had a machine shop and later associated with Price Construction Co.

Her husband preceded her in death in 1933 and in 1950 Mrs. Harlan moved to Sunnyside to be near her daughter. She lived there for 10 years before moving to Dayton where she lived for 10 years. She moved to the Odd Fellows Home in 1970.

She was a member of the Dayton Methodist Church and Schuyler Bethel Lodge 18.

She is survived by one daughter, Lola Courtney, Milton-Freewater; one sister, Irene Black, Dayton; one sister-in-law, Nettie Harlan, Dayton; four grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by one son and one daughter.

DICK HARPER.

Dick Harper, who is filling the position of county auditor in Columbia county, Washington, and makes his home in Dayton, was born August 12, 1863, in Washburn, Woodford county, Illinois. His father, James D. Harper, was a native of Sullivan county, Indiana, born in 1838, and when quite young removed to central Illinois, where his boyhood and youth were passed. He was a graduate of Eureka College, Eureka, Illinois, and devoted his entire life to educational work. He married Marion A. Jenkins when twenty-five years of age and passed away in Dayton, Washington, in February, 1901. His wife is a representative of a pioneer family of New York and is now living in Dayton at the age of eighty years and is splendidly preserved. She lived for a few months in the same house with Abraham Lincoln during the famous Lincoln-Douglas campaign. She has a brother living at the age of ninety years, who was an officer in the Civil war, holding the rank of first lieutenant.

Dick Harper acquired a common school education in Missouri and also attended the State Normal School at Warrensburg, Missouri. In 1885, when a young man of twenty-two years, he took charge of a drug store for his brother-in-law at Rich Hill, Missouri, and successfully managed the business for a period of seven years, after which he came to the Pacific coast, arriving in Portland, Oregon, in the spring of 1892. In the fall of that year he came to Dayton, where he was identified with farming and with the grain trade until the spring of 1903, when he established a furniture store in Dayton and soon won for himself a place among the active and representative merchants of the city. In 1906 he purchased the Day drug store at Dayton, which he conducted successfully for seven years.

On the 27th of October, 1886, in Butler, Bates county, Missouri, Mr. Harper was united in marriage to Miss Laura A. Floyd, a daughter of John H. and Sarah A. Floyd. They have a daughter, Florence Marion, who is the wife of Lloyd R. Terwilliger, who is living in Walla Walla and is employed in the First National Bank of that city.

Mr. Harper has long been an active and helpful member of the Christian church and he has membership with the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias and the Masons. For a number of years he served as secretary of Dayton Chapter, R. A. M., and in his life has always exemplified the beneficent spirit of the craft. He belongs to the Dayton Commercial Club and is a member of its governing board. In politics he is a democrat. In 1898 he was made county auditor of Columbia county by popular vote and in 1910 and 1911 served as councilman at large. He was chairman of the street and public property committee and also of the light and water committee. In 1912 he was elected mayor of the city and in 1916 was appointed police judge. He has thus long continued in public office and those who read between the lines will recognize the important part which he has played in public affairs in Dayton, winning for himself a most creditable position in commercial and political circles. In a word, he has exercised much influence over public thought and opinion and has done much to advance public progress in his adopted city.

Old-Time Resident Is Laid at Rest

Mrs. Marion Harper Passed Away At Eugene, Oregon.

Mrs. Marion Harper, revered old-time resident of Dayton, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Cushing Elliott of Eugene, Oregon, Thursday at the age of ninety-two. She had enjoyed remarkable health throughout her life, was possessed of all her faculties until the last, and her death followed an illness of but three weeks' duration. Her remains were brought to Dayton for burial in the family plot, and funeral services were held from the First Christion church of this city Saturday afternoon at two o'clock with the Rev. S. L. Jackson in charge.

Marion Jenkins was born in the state of New York June 9, 1838, but much of her youth was spent in Illinois where she was married to James D. Harper in 1860. The family first moved to Missouri and later came west settling in Dayton in 1893. Here they continued to live until the death of Mr. Harper 28 years ago and since that time Mrs. Harper had divided her time with her children here and in Oregon. Mrs. Harper leaves three children, Mrs. Maria Floyd, St. John, Washington; Ralph Harper, Walla Walla, and Mrs. Cushing Elliott, Eugene, Oregon. Another son, Dick Harper, died a number of years ago. Besides her children, Mrs. Harper leaves eight grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

1 March 1902

Death of James D. Harper.

Died, in this city, at the residence of Ralph Harper, at 7:15, January 29, 1902, James D. Harper, aged 66 years and four months

James D. Harper was born in Indiana in 1835. For a number of years he was a resident of Missouri and moved from that state to Portland, Oregon, with his family in 1891. He came to Columbia county in 1896 and has resided here since. He had followed the occupation of a farmer during all his life. He leaves his wife and four grown children to mourn his loss. All of his children attended the funeral which occurred Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. On account of a case of scarlet fever being in the house, no public funeral was held. Mr. Harper's children are, Ralph Harper, of Dayton; Dick Harper, of Lewiston; Mrs. Maria Floyd, of Dayton and Mrs. E. B. Elliott, of Portland

5 March 1942

MRS. RALF HARPER

Mrs. Ralf Harper, 76, died at her home on Fourth St. Saturday morning after a long period of failing health. Her condition had been serious since fall and her daughter had been here from Seattle to assist in her care for several months.

Birtie Floyd, a member of the family of nine children of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Floyd, was born in Cooper county, Missouri November 24, 1865, and in early life moved with her family to Bates county. The young Floyds grew up as neighbors of another large family, the Harpers, and the families became closely related through the ties of marriage, with three of the Floyd young people uniting in marriage with three of the Harpers. All came west in early life and settled in and around Dayton. and many of them continued as friends, neighbors and relatives throughout their later lives.

Birtie Floyd was married to Ralf Harper, August 1, 1886 and came west several years later. They first settled in the Waitsburg district, and Mr. Harper was in charge of warehouses on the O. W. R. & N. railroad at Alto for several years. In the nineties they came to Dayton and purchased property, and for many years they have made their home on Fourth St.

Through the years Mrs. Harper was called upon many times to care for the sick and aged, and she gave herself to this work with such devotion that she was prevailed upon by physicians to do professional nursing from time to time. She was found to be so gifted in the work, that she was called upon more and more frequently to care for the sick, so she turned her residence into a nursing home, and until her own health failed, she devoted herself whole-heartedly to this work. Her innate kindness and sympathy, combined with the skill developed through years of service to others gave her work a quality that endeared her to all with whom she came in contact.

Mrs. Harper was long a member of the Christian church and she was identified with several of its women's groups. In early life she was active in several fraternal circles, but she had dropped much of this as other duties more fully claimed her time.

In August 1936 Mr. and Mrs. Harper observed their golden wedding anniversary, and their church and community participated in making the day memorable one for them.

Besides her husband, Ralf Harper, Dayton, Mrs. Harper leaves one daughter, Mrs. A. M. Perry, Seattle; a sister, Mrs. C. A. Bryan, Dayton; three brothers, Will Floyd, Dayton; Lesile Floyd, Pocatello, Idaho; and C. A. Floyd, Colorado; and many nephews and nices.

RELATIVES ATTEND FUNERAL

Among relatives and friends of the late Mrs. Ralf Harper here for her funeral services Tuesday were Mrs. Cushing Elliott, sister of Mr. Harper, from Eugene, Oregon, Mrs. Nellie Tilson, Sandpoint, Isaac Maxwell, St. John, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mc Sweeney and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Floyd and Mrs. James Floyd, Colfax.

5 Mar 1942

MRS. HARPER FUNERAL TUES.

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Ralf Harper at the Hubbard-Rogg chapel Tuesday at 2 p. m., with the Rev. Herbert F. Jones of the Christian church officiating. Hymns that had been selected by the late Mrs. Harper as among those she had always loved best were sung by Mrs. C. R. Rogg and Mrs. J. A. Hubbard, accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Fry, and pallbearers were Charles McCauley, M. Lewandowski, H. C. White, W. H. Bales, Albert Fix, W. F. McCauley and Jess M. Neal. Many beautiful flowers paid a tribute to her life in their own way.

27 Oct 1949

RALPH HARPER

Funeral services for Ralph Harper, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Myron Perry, in Walla Walla on October 21, were held in the Rogg-Watson chapel at 2:30 p. m. Monday under the direction of Rev. Earl Miller of Colfax. Burial was in the Dayton cemetery.

Ralph Harper was born December 27, 1864, in Illinois, and came to this area in 1897. He lived here until 1948 when he moved to live with his daughter in Walla Walla.

Survivors are his daughter, Mrs. Myron A. Perry of Walla Walla; a sister, Mrs. Cushing Elliott of Eugene, Oregon; and a number of nephews and cousins in the area.

8 Apr 1937

Mrs. George Floyd

Mrs. Maria Floyd, widow of the late George Floyd, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph McKinley, Sunday morning at 9 o'clock after a brief illness.

Impressive funeral services were held from the First Christian church Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock with Rev. Frank G. Van Doren officiating, and interment was made in the family plot in the Dayton cemetery. Lovely flowers from relatives and lifelong friends banked the casket, music was provided by a mixed quartet, and pallbearers were George Price, Roy Ream, Carl Bishop, Carl Anderson, Wayne Fry and Marvin Elwell.

Maria Harper was born at Foster, Bates county, Missouri, June 11, 1868, and grew up in that country. She was married to George Floyd, a member of a family of early friends of the Harpers, at Butler, Missouri, September 10, 1889. Two of her brothers married members of the Floyd family, and gradually all of the young people and their parents drifted west.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd moved to Portland in 1891 where the Ralf Harpers were already established, and in 1895 they came to Dayton. This was their home continuously until the death of Mr. Floyd in 1925, and since that time Mrs. Floyd has divided her time with her four children. She was an active member of the Christian church from early youth, and lived a consistent Christian life.

Mrs. Floyd leaves three daughters, Mrs. Leo Courtney, Spokane, Mrs. Charles McSweeney, St. John, and Mrs. Ralph McKinley, Dayton, and one son, James Floyd, Colfax. She also leaves a brother, Ralf Harper, of Dayton, a sister, Mrs. Cushing Elliott of Eugene, Oregon, and 11 grandchildren.

SUICIDE. — Early Tuesday morning Nightwatch Hutchinson found the body of R. T. Harper in a room in Dantzscher's brick, cold in death. For several days previous to Harper's death he had been drinking heavily and on Monday night he bought 20 grains of morphine at the drug store of E. S. Ryerson. At the coroners inquest a verdict was rendered to the effect that Harper had died from an over dose of morphine, self administered. Although Harper has been a resident of this county for about a year very little is known of him.

PASSES AWAY IN PORTLAND

Mrs. Ralf Harper has received news of the death in Portland Thursday, October 1 of her niece, Mrs. Edwin Trimpler, who is remembered here as Willa Alberta Harper, daughter of the late Abraham Harper. Funeral services were held fro mthe Holman & Lutz Colonial Mortuary, Portland, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and interment was made at the Rose City cemetery. Mrs. Trimpler leaves besides her husband, Edwin Trimpler, three children, Harriet, Helen and Edwin Trimpler, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Engle, and Mrs. Eleanore Esteb.

18 June 1931

Mrs. Nancy Geiszler Passes at Starbuck

The funeral of Mrs. Nancy Geiszler, wife of Rev. Geiszler, Starbuck Methodist minister, was held yesterday morning at ten o'clock from the Hubbard-Rogg chapel, with Rev. John E. Williams, Waitsburg Methodist pastor, in charge of the service. Interment was made in the Dayton cemetery.

Mrs. Geiszler's death occurred Sunday evening in Starbuck, where Rev. and Mrs. Geiszler have made their home for the past four years, coming there from Anatone, Washington. She had been ailing in health for several years, although only seriously ill for a short time.

Nancy Harper was born March 31, 1866, in Tilamook, Oregon, and lived for around 20 years at Athena, Washington. She is survived by her husband, four children, Jesse Smith, Salem, Oregon; Roy Smith, Starbuck; Mrs. Mattie Moore, Cambridge, Idaho; and Mrs. Vern Stokes, Ellensburg; and two step children, Ross Geiszler, Seattle; and Mrs. Ringsage, Park Valley, Idaho.

Dick Harper.

The citizens of Dayton and Columbia county were painfully shocked Sunday morning on learning of the death of Dick Harper, deputy county auditor. Only a week before his demise Mr. Harper was taken down with a fever. A few days later it was discovered that he must undergo an operation for abscess, which was performed. It soon developed that another operation was necessary, but when the physicians made an examination it was discovered that an operation would be useless, as gangrene had set in and he was given up. He died Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Harper was born in Washburn, Illinois, August 12, 1863. He was a pioneer resident of the county, living for some years on a farm in the Alto district. He served as county auditor, and deputy auditor at various times, was elected mayor of Dayton, and was at one time engaged in the drug business. He was well liked by everybody and all were his friends. He will be greatly missed by his associates as well as the community at large. Mr. Harper was a member of the K. of P. lodge, W. O. W. and the Masonic order.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Terwilliger, a brother, Ralf Harper, two sisters, Mrs. George Floyd, of Dayton, and Mrs. Cushing Elliott, of Portland, and his mother.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at Christian church, Rev. Bell officiating.

The ceremonies at the cemetery were conducted by the Masons.

Pioneer Drug Store Changes Hands.

Harper's Drug Store, the oldest pharmacy in the city, was sold last week to M. L. and J. K. Thompson, who have recently owned drug stores in Farmington and Waitsburg. The Messrs. Thompson are both graduates of the pharmaceutical department of Pullman College, and have had wide experience in prescription work since. J. K. Thompson was at one time associated with the marine hospital service in the Philippine Islands.

Harper's Drug Store was founded in 1873 by L. L. Day, and was housed in a little wooden building below where the Weinhard Theatre now stands. Joe Day, a brother of L. L. Day, went to Portland to fit himself for a pharmacist, and afterwards bought out the business, which he successfully ran for many years. As Main street built up, the store moved further up town and at one time occupied a wooden building on the corner where the Columbia National Bank is located. That place was burned out, and when Main street was rebuilt the drug store moved two doors further up, into the brick building where it now stands. Brockman & Lowe purchased the business from J. H. Day, when he decided to move to Portland, and Lowe & Son were the next owners. Dick Harper has successfully managed the business for more than seven years, and has kept up its long established reputation for efficient and reliable service.

Florence's Twewilligers family

DICK HARPER

I was born in Missouri, and when I was 9 months old, my people decided they didn't want to live in Missouri, so they went to Portland. His mother and father and sister were living in Portland. Then, we had a uncle, Will Maxwell, who had a very fine farm in Dayton, and he asked us to come up here.

On they way up, there was a terrible snow slide on the Columbia river, somewhere around The Dalles, Oregon, I was over a year old, but I think we were there over 24 hours. The crew had a terrible time to keep the train from slipping into the Columbia river. My poor parents! There was no food on the train. My mother said I couldn't sleep all the time, so her legs were black and blue where I jumped up an down on her lap. We finally got to the Columbia county, and my fther worked as a hand. I remember his saying in later years, "Well, this beats 50 cents a day," whic was the wages he got when we first came to Columbia County. Mr. Harper, Florence's father, had a little money saved, and he helped Mr. Maxwell, to save the ranch. As I remember, Mr. Maxwell had a bank, and later Mr. Broughton bought out this bank. ??? Florence has a gold certificate from that bank. The bank was out near Alto, and those men in those days worked awfuly hard.

Florence"s grandfather was a college professor in Illinois, and he named Florence's father Dick (not Richard), his other son he named Rolf, not Ralph, and he had one daughter whose name was Cushing Howard Harper...Howard was named after General Howard, had another daughter who was called Maria McLellan Harper, after General McLellan. Grandmother Harper was named Jenkins. and her father had a friend of the Swamp Fox in the Civil war, (didn't remember name) Grandma Harper was from New York, so they weren't true southerners. Florence's grandmother was Laura Alice Floyd.... and her folks were descended from Virginia and West Virginia, and the William Floyd whose signature is on the Declaration of Independence (I looked it up, and it's there) and Grandma Floyd, her maternal family was named Hull, from Virginia, and earlier from the ship-building family of England.

Terwilliger House, 417 North Willow Street.

Terwilliger House, 417 North Willow

-This charming circa 1885 home was once owned by the Harper family. Miss Florence Harper married Lloyd Terwilliger, the local J. C. Penney manager. It is a large square, two story, hip roofed house with a beautiful wrap-around porch with tuscon columns. Architectural features include a second floor balcony and pedimented gable with decorative shingles, closed eaves and fascia board. An oval vent highlights the center front gable. The home once featured a "widow's walk" which the current owners hope to restore.

The current owners, Russ Swingler and Janet Pomeroy-Swingler, have lovingly maintained the original character of the home as they have restored the structure. Their many antiques and period artifacts bridge the modern conveniences with the home's historic structure.

Hair checked for 'scalp'

Dayton man recalls Chief Joseph

By Nadine Gerkey
of the Union-Bulletin

DAYTON — His father followed a mule from Portland to Walla Walla to save the mule from going to war.

Chief Joseph, camped near his home on Sturm Avenue in Walla Walla when he was born, examined him to see if he had enough hair to scalp.

Lloyd Terwilliger, 417 N. Willow St., has memories, first and secondhand, dating back to more than 100 years ago.

When Terwilliger's father, David W. Terwilliger, about 15 years old, followed the mule to Walla Walla from Portland, he was trying to renegotiate with the government.

He had sold the mule to the government for $100 but tried to get it back when he discovered it was going to the Indian wars and would probably get killed.

George Dacres, the man in charge of the livestock at Ft. Walla Walla, where the mule was taken, said David could have the mule back for the $100. But David had been forced to spend some of the money and had to settle for a pony.

Among the jobs he picked up was taking messages to Gen. Oliver Howard, who conducted the campaign against Chief Joseph in 1877.

Although a number of messengers had been killed, the youth carried word to Gen. Howard successfully, his route taking him through the new settlement of Dayton.

"When he ran across Indians, he ate dinner with them," Terwilliger said.

Later Chief Joseph set up camp on the same lot on Sturm Avenue where Terwilliger was born.

"My dad took me out to see Joseph when I was born," Terwilliger said, "to see if I had enough hair to scalp."

Joseph's sister, a Mrs. Moses of Lewiston, Idaho, used to take charge of Terwilliger when he would visit there.

"She'd pick me up at Alexander's Grocery, now the site of Lewis and Clark Hotel," Terwilliger said. "She knew where all the great mud puddles were."

There was a saloon in the middle of one block with a "two-ton" man in a red flannel shirt and suspenders, he said. Mrs. Moses would tell him to stand in front of the saloon and not say a word.

"He'd give me a package of blackjack chewing gum all frizzy on the ends," Terwilliger said. "If I'd get enough, we'd each get a stick. Otherwise, we'd split them evenly. She taught me to share or to give, if there were not enough to share. She was a great woman."

Chief Joseph always left a pair of moccasins for young Terwilliger when he camped in Walla Walla.

"And they always fit," Terwilliger said. "I found out from Black Eagle in 1959 that Joseph would match my size with the kids in his camp."

Later Terwilliger's father opened White House Clothing on W. Main Street, which became the New York Store. His partner was Ralph E. Guichard.

Young Terwilliger married Florence Harper of Dayton in 1911. He worked in the First National Bank in Walla Walla, from 1916-1919 before becoming manager of J.C. Penney Co. in Dayton.

Three years later he was transferred as manager to Newberne, N.C. He lived in the Slover House, made from ship ballast in 1710, which was headquarters for a northern general during the Civil War of Occupation.

At Newberne, Terwilliger was director of the Craven County Welfare Association and a member of the school board, a self-perpetuating board at that time which had been appointed by King George III when the community was a colony.

He was a charter member of the Inquiry Club of Dayton, formed in 1914, and is past chairman of the Columbia County Republican Committee, a 64-year member of the Walla Walla Elks Lodge and a member of the Dayton Masonic Lodge and the York rite of the El Katif Shriners in Spokane.

The Terwilligers have one daughter, Marion Elizabeth, a professional artist married to James Cook McKell III, a descendant of James Cook, famous English navigator and explorer.

Afflicted with severe back problems, Terwilliger returned to Dayton in 1936 and never left.

"This town is a jewel," he said. "We don't have the problems of the big cities."

60-year-old charter

Lloyd Terwilliger of Dayton studies the charter scroll signed with the quill pen he is holding by the original members of the Inquiry Club of Dayton, which was formed on Nov. 3, 1914. Dr. E. H. Van Patten was president and S. Z. Varnes, secretary. Other members, in addition to Terwilliger, were Hardy E. Hamm, W. O. Metzter, a graduate of the first class at Whitman College, G. F. Appleton, C. A. Livengood, Harry E. Mason, Chester F. Miller, J. L. Wallace, James T. Allen, H. A. Mott, S. F. Atwood, C. F. Schiltz, Roy Cahill, Paul Henderson and William H. Fouts. (U-B photo)

He served as Sheriff of Nez Perces county, Idaho, and upon him devolved the duty of collecting the tax imposed upon miners from foreign countries, who were operating in that county. He collected this tax from 1867 until about 1870, after which he returned and resided in Lewiston until 1875, still retaining his interest in mines. In the year noted he came again to Dayton, Washington, then a trading post of about 700 inhabitants, and here engaged in his present business, in which he enjoys success.

He was married July 30, 1872, in Lincoln, Placer county, California, to Mary S. Lent, a native of Pennsylvania, and a daughter of John B. and Susan (Hinkle) Lent. Her father was a native of Southampton, England, and emigrated to this country when a young man. His death occurred in Ohio in 1872, he having attained to the age of fifty-seven years. Mrs. Lent was a daughter of John Hinkle, a veteran of the war of 1812. She died in 1871, in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, at the age of fifty-five years. Mrs. Harris came to California in June, 1872, and one month later was united in marriage to our subject. By this union two children have been born: Maud V. and Mary, both young ladies of more than ordinary intelligence and culture, having received their education in Whitman College, Walla Walla, Washington.

Mrs. Harris is a member of the United Brethren Church. In his fraternal relations Mr. Harris is a member of the A. F. & A. M., Columbia Lodge, No. 26, he having been made a Mason in California in 1860, and he is also a member of Chapter No. 5, R. A. M.; politically he holds the principles of the Democratic party.

As one of the most capable men and enterprising residents of the locality to whose interests he has been devoted, and to whose upbuilding he has contributed so much, it is compatible that a sketch of his life should be incorporated in this work, which has mainly to do with relating the tales of pioneer life and detailing the causes which led to the stable prosperity of the Evergreen State, and recalling the men whose efforts effected this advancement.

CONSERVATION FARMERS—Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Harris, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan 'Pete" Harris, right, have been named Columbia County Conservation Farmers for 1960. The two couples will be honored this evening, October 20, at the annual conservation farmer recognition banquet sponsored by the Dayton Kiwanis club and Dayton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Hubert and 'Pete' Harris Named 1960 County Conservation Farmers

Annual Banquet Slated Tonight To Honor Winners

Columbia County Conservation Farmers for 1960, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Dan "Pete" Harris, will be honored this evening, October 20, at the annual Kiwanis-Jaycee conservation farmer recognition banquet.

The annual banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the multi-purpose room of Dayton Elementary school.

Special guest at the program will be Miss Hedwig Zorb from St. Paul's School for Girls in Walla Walla. She will talk on Russia today and relate experiences of her visit to this nation. She will be introduced by Paul Nelson, Kiwanis vice president.

Bill Schirmer, Kiwanis president, will serve as master of ceremonies. George Reinland, Junior Chamber president, will bring the welcome and closing ceremony.

Words of thanks and introduction of past conservation farmers will be made by Willis Kinder, chairman of Columbia Soil Conservation District. A special picture will be presented to the immediate past conservation farmers, Mr. and Mrs. Hep Archer by Jim Archer, Jaycee agriculture chairman.

Congratulations and presentation of the 1960 award plaque to the Harris brothers will be made by Harold Boeger, Kiwanis agriculture chairman.

Tickets for the annual banquet will be available at the door. Kiwanis and Jaycees members and their wives are invited to attend.

Conservation Practice Wins County Award For Two Brothers

A plow is an unused piece of equipment on land farmed by the Harris brothers, Hubert and Dan ("Pete"), who will be honored this evening, October 20, as Columbia County Conservation Farmers for 1960.

Except when the two brothers were trying a sweet clover and barley annual cropping program for about five years, a plow has not been used on their land since 1937. They also pioneered the use of deep furrow drills in their area of the county, the Harmony district.

These practices plus their programs of utilization of stubble, water conservation through trashy fallow, which they have followed since 1937, 200 acres of strip farming and grassed waterways have all contributed to their selection as conservation farmers for this year.

Farm 3,572 Acres

At the present time, the Harris brothers operate 3,572 acres of farm land and custom farm another 600 acres.

They own 1200 acres in this total and lease the remaining acreage from Herman Cochran, Wayne Hoskins, Mrs. Rodney Griffen, Leverett Woods, Leo Blessinger and Clarence Hechtner. Their custom farming arrangement is with Chris Enrich.

This acreage is divided into 45 acres of irrigated asparagus on the Cochran land, 2,672 acres of wheat and fallow land and about 882 acres of range land. Some of the range land is in odd peices, is not fenced and is not grazed.

HARRIS BROTHERS

Approximately 600 acres are grazed.

The brothers also run about 45 head of Hereford cattle on the home place which they own about 12 miles north of Dayton.

Partnership

Hubert and "Pete" formed their farming partnership in the early 1940's following the death of their mother, Mrs. Jessie Jorgensen. Before that time, the brothers and their mother were in partnership. Their father, Daniel H. Harris, passed away in 1925 and their mother carried on with the farm.

Equipment used by the brothers in their farming program includes sub soilers, discs and sweeps. Except during the clover program, they have not plowed their land since 1937.

Hubert mentioned that he feels it takes about ten years to see and gain benefits from their type of farm program. For the past five years, he continued, they have noticed very little soil and water runoff on their land.

Hubert Harris was born at Waitsburg and lived north of Prescott until about 1920 when the family moved to the Dayton area. He graduated from Dayton High school in 1927 and immediately went to farming.

Married in 1933

He and the former Laura Johnson were married in Dayton September 17, 1933. They are parents of an adopted daughter, Linda Rae, 13, an eigth grader, Mrs. Harris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Johnson who came to Dayton from Denmark in 1904. Her brother, Bob Johnson, and two uncles, John Johnson and Martin Johnson, all live in Dayton.

They moved into Dayton about ten years ago from the farm and now make their home at 108 W. Washington. Although managing the business end of the farm operation now, Hubert has not been farming actively for the past six months. He is recuperating from a heart attack which he suffered in April.

Charter Member

Hubert is a charter member of Willow Grange and a past master. He also served as Pomona master for two years. He has served as a supervisor of Columbia Soil Conservation District from June, 1949, to June 1954, and was chairman of the board in 1952. He is also a member of the Odd Fellows, Harmony Farm Bureau and Farm Bureau board, wheat and cattlemen's associations.

Mrs. Harris is president of the Columbia County Home Economics Council, member of the Rebekahs and several home economics club. They hold membership in the Congregational church.

Daniel H. "Pete" Harris was born at Prescott and graduated from Dayton High school in 1937. After graduation he joined his mother and brother in farming.

He and the former Marabell Dunning were married in Dayton February 24, 1945. Mrs. Harris is is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunning, former county residents now living at Touchet. Her brother, Rolland, also makes his home at Touchet.

They are parents of two children, Alan, 9, a fourth grader, and Kandis Kay, age 3.

Conservation Board

"Pete" was assistant supervisor representing Harmony community on the board of Columbia Soil Conservation District from September, 1957, to September, 1960. He is a charter member of Willow Grange and past master. He holds memberships in the Odd Fellows Iodge, Farm Bureau, wheat and cattlemen's associations. He is also a member of the Farm Bureau board.

Mrs. Harris is a member of the Grange and a former member of Tucannon Home Economics club. They attend the Marengo Community church.

In addition to their farm activities, the two brothers maintain a farm shop in Dayton in the building behind Monty's Radio & TV and Randolph's Real Estate. They have maintained this shop for the past three years.

The U. S. population increased about 4,100,000 in 1955. (The entire population in 1790 census was 3,900,000).

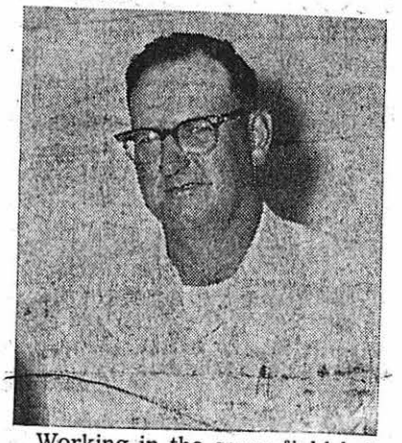
Harvester Upset Kills 'Pete' Harris

Daniel Henry "Pete" Harris, 47, well - known local farmer, was killed about 2:30 p.m. Friday, July 29, in the upset of a self-propelled combine he was operating on a steep hillside in the Willow Creek district north of Dayton.

The accident took place on land owned by G. L. Blessinger and farmed by the Harris Brothers, Hubert and "Pete." The accident site was about 1½ miles east of Highway 410 in the field off the Willow Creek road.

On Downhill Turn

It was reported that Harris was making a downhill turn on the hillside when the machine apparently went out of control and flipped end - over - end at least 1½ times. The farmer was caught under the combine and crushed.



Working in the same field but not witnessing the accident were William Walker, employee of Harris Brothers who was operating a tractor pulling trucks out of the field, and Alan Harris, son of "Pete," who was driving a bulk truck.

Columbia County Ambulance responded to the emergency call. Floyd Brooksbank and Curtis Barton made the run. It was reported that the ambulance had to be pulled to the accident scene by tractor because of steepness of the ground. Sheriff E. E. Warwick and Deputy L. G. Payne were called to the site to investigate.

Funeral on Tuesday

Funeral service was conducted at 11 a.m. Tuesday, August 2, from the Methodist church with the Rev. James R. Taylor officiating. Interment followed at Dayton City Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Richard Juris, Arlie Fullerton, Art Sunderland, Monte Leighty, Elmer DeRuwe and Jack DeRuwe. Flower bearer was Walter Jones with Mrs. Don Hatfield as soloist and Mrs. Howard Whipple as organist.

Born at Prescott

Mr. Harris was born November 2, 1918, at Prescott and came to the Dayton area with his parents, the late Daniel H. and Jessie Harris about 1920. He graduated from Dayton High School in 1937 and joined his brother, Hubert, and his mother in farming.

He and the former Marabell Dunning were married in Dayton February 24, 1945.

Mr. Harris shared 1960 Conservation Farmer of the Year honors with his brother, Hubert. He was vice president of Columbia County Farm Bureau, Inc. and vice chairman of the Columbia County ASC committee. Mr. Harris was also active in Columbia Soil & Water Conservation District, charter member and past master of Willow Grange, member of IOOF, Grain Growers and Livestock Association.

In addition to his wife, Marabell, at the family home on Route 2, members of the family include a son, Alan, and a daughter, Kandis Kay, both at the home; a brother, Hubert Harris of Dayton; and a sister, Mrs. Laura Cook of Walla Walla.

H. Harris Succumbs

Hubert L. Harris, 61, retired Columbia county farmer, died early Wednesday morning, October 28, at his home, 108 W. Washington.

Funeral service will be conducted at 11 a.m. Saturday, October 31, from the First United Methodist church with the Rev. Gordon Tritchler officiating. Interment will follow at the family plot in Dayton City Cemetery. Arrangements are in charge of Hubbard-Rogg.

Mr. Harris, a life-long county farmer in the Willow Creek area, had retired from active farming last year.

Members of the family include his wife, Laura, at the home; a daughter, Miss Linda Rae Harris, of Spokane; a sister, Mrs. Paul Cook of Walla Walla.

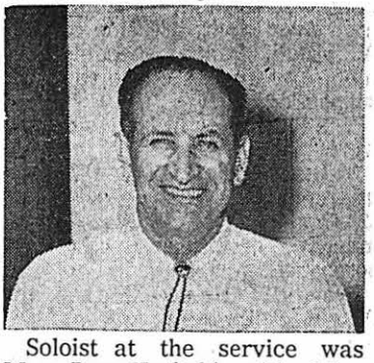
A complete obituary will be published next week.

5 Nov 1970

H. L. Harris Final Rite Held Oct. 31

Hubert L. Harris, 61, well - known retired Columbia county farmer, passed away unexpectedly Wednesday morning, October 28, at his home, 108 West Washington.

Funeral service was conducted Saturday morning, October 31, from the First United Methodist church with the Rev. Gordon Tritchler of the First Congregational church officiating. Interment followed at the family plot in Dayton City Cemetery. Hubbard - Rogg was in charge of arrangements.



Soloist at the service was Mrs. Don Hatfield with Mrs. Marvin Evers as organist. Graveside ritualistic rites were conducted by members of Alki Patit Lodge No. 10, IOOF.

Mr. Harris was born June 10, 1909, in Waitsburg, the son of Daniel and Jessie Harris. He was reared and educated in the Waitsburg-Dayton area and after the death of his father he assumed operation of the family farm in the Willow Creek district of Columbia county. He was later joined in the farm operation by his brother, Daniel "Pete" Harris, who was killed in a harvest accident in July, 1966. Mr. Harris retired from active farming last year.

Married in 1933

He and the former Laura Johnson were married September 17, 1933, in Dayton.

Mr. Harris was a member of the First Congregation church, Columbia County Grain Growers, Columbia County Farm Bureau, master of the Dayton Grange, charter member of the Grange in this area, past chief patriarch of Franklin Encampment No. 13, IOOF, and chaplain of Alki Patit Lodge No. 10, IOOF.

He and his brother were named Columbia County Conservation Farmers in 1960.

In addition to his wife at the family home, members of the family include a daughter, Miss Linda Rae Harris, of Spokane; a sister, Mrs. Paul Cook, Walla Walla; two aunts, Mrs. Chester Woods and Mrs. Dave McIntosh, both of Walla Walla; and several nieces and nephews.

20 Feb 1925

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harris moved the first of the week to their ranch on Willow Creek to begin the spring work.

Marabell Adean Harris

Mrs. Marabell Adean Harris, 65, of 211 East Jackson, Dayton, died January 21, 1991, at St. Mary Medical Center. Funeral services were held Thursday, January 24, 1991, at 1:00 p.m. in the Chapel of Hubbard-Rogg Funeral Home in Dayton. Pastor Robert Shields officiated. Burial followed in the Blue Mountain Memorial Park in Dayton.

Mrs. Harris was born July 20, 1925, in Dayton to Roy and Bessie Black Dunning. She graduated from Dayton High School in 1943 after attending grade school at Whitebird on the Tucannon River. She later met and married Dan Harris on February 24, 1945, in the Dayton Methodist Church Parsonage. He preceded her in death on July 26, 1966, in Dayton as the result of a combine accident.

She was a life-long home-maker and is survived by one son, Alan Harris of Starbuck; one daughter, Kandis Harris of Dayton; a brother, Rolland Dunning of Touchet; 3 sisters-in-law, Laura Harris of Dayton, Laura Cook of Walla Walla, and Edna Dunning of Touchet; two grandchildren, Wesley Alan Harris of Starbuck and JoHanna Danielle Williams of Dayton; 2 step-grandchildren, Kimberly Cush and Norbert William Cush both of Dayton, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Laura Harris

Laura V. Harris, age 92 years, of 211 E. Jackson St. Dayton, Washington, died March 14, 2003, at the Dayton General Hospital.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, March 19, 2003, at the Hubbard-Rogg Chapel in Dayton, with Rev. Steve Edwards officiating. Interment was at the family plot in the Dayton City Cemetery.

Laura was born in Dayton on May 10, 1910. Her parents were Ed and Andrea Anderson Johnson. She attended Dayton schools, graduating from high school with the class of 1928. On September 17, 1933, she married Hubert Harris in a ceremony held in Dayton. They made their home on the Willow Creek farm until 1956, when they moved into town. Mr. Harris died in 1970.

Laura cared for children in homes where the parents worked. She became "Momma Harris" to these families, and her devotion will always be remembered.

Before her husband died she enjoyed going with him to the Snake River, where they took their boat and fished for smallmouth bass and steelhead. One of her proudest moments was on a September day when she caught a near-record-size steelhead.

She was a member of the Schuyler Rebekah Lodge and the Senior Center. She enjoyed needlework and card games.

She is survived by a daughter, Linda Harris, and granddaughter, Jeanette Wilson, both of Spokane; two great-grandchildren; several nieces and nephews; and many other children who called her "Momma."

Besides her husband she was preceded in death by two brothers, Claud and Bob Johnson.

Those who wish may contribute through the funeral home at 111 So. 2nd St., Dayton, WA 99328, to the Columbia County Senior Center or a charity of the donor's choice.
