HERE ARE FIVE OF A KIND. In a game of poker that could only be played in this county, but in this instance it's five old-timers of this county who were born in this county in 1869. By December 29 each of them will be 79 years old. Three of them are 79 now. Left to right seated they are W. F. McCauley, Grant Armstrong, Bill Mustard; standing, Grant Abraham and Vess McAville.—C-D photo by Pat.

W.F. McCAULEY

W.F. McCauley was born on Whiskey creek in this county January 29, 1869. He started farming for himself in 1893 and as he puts it, "Wheat was 80 cents a bushel but before I could get my crop harvested it had gone down to 20 cents a bushel. it took me ten years to get over that handicap."

Bill has been terrifically interested in politics and economics all his life. Given an opportunity Bill is more apt to talk on one of these subjects rather than farming. he believes, and has for a long time, in a dollar with a world-wide standard of value. And he says there never was a surplus of any crop; whenever you hear of a surplus, he says, put it down as so much tommyrot; the difficulty is restricted distribution because of the difference in exchange dollars.

Although Bill will usually be found lined up with the Democratic candidates, he says he doesn't stick to a name, his guiding influence is principle.

Bill was married to Nellie Crossler in December 13, 1887; after bearing 6 children she passed away in No-member of 1903. A year later he was Married to Anna E. Olin, who still makes Bill's life comfortable. This union bore four children.

Of this family five children survive; Byron F. and Eldon of Dayton; Mrs. Loree Rushing of Modesto, Calif; Mrs. Earl Winnett, and Oscar (Skip) of Dayton, and 19 grandchildren.

During the peak of Bill's career he was working for better, more stable conditions for the wheat farmer. He was one of the active backers of the McNary-Hogan bill which was calculated to have a domestic price of wheat on a parity level and the surplus sold on the world market, and the work market price supported by a tax on the domestic wheat. Bill believes the Wall street bankers kept this bill from being made into law, and excuses the Roosevelt administration on the grounds of politics.

When his work for the wheat grower came to an end, he took up the battle for the Townsend plan, and works at it now at every opportunity. He says the ways and means committee of the house of representatives has kept that bill from coming to the floor of congress, and he doesn't believe it right that so few men should have so much power.

McCauleys to celebrate 60 years

Darrel and Barbara McCauley will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary with an open house reception on Saturday, September 13, from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. at the Dayton Christian Church.

The McCauleys were married September 19, 1937 in Walla Walla, WA and made their home in Dayton. Darrel was the owner/operator of Dayton Cut and Wrap for many years prior to his retirement, and has remained active with his tractor.

The McCauleys have two children, Bob McCauley of Bellevue, WA and Beverly Seibert of Soap Lake. They have three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Friends and family of the McCauley's are encouraged to attend their open house. At the request of the couple, guests are asked not to bring gifts.

Dorothy and Marion McCauley

High school sweethearts Dorothy Hunt Hurst and former Dayton resident Marion "Sonny" McCauley of Knoxville, Tennessee were married September 19, 1998 at the Messiah Evangelic Lutheran Church in Knoxville. The Reverend David Bradford officiated.

The couple first became engaged in 1943 when Marion joined the U.S. Navy serving during World War II. The engagement didn't survive the war and the couple weren't reunited until 55 years later at a high school reunion.

Three days after the reunion Sonny once again asked Dorothy to marry him. She accepted and two months later flew to Tennessee for the wedding.

The bride is the daughter of the late Lewis and Tina Hunt. She is a 1943 graduate of Dayton High School and was employed by JC Penney Co. for 17 years and then at Seafirst Bank for 28 years.

The groom is the son of the late Marion (Schooner) and Pearl McCauley. He attended Dayton High School; received a bachelor of science degree from Frostburg State College, Frostburg, Maryland in 1978; and received a masters in public health from the University of Tennessee in 1982.

11-4-98

The groom's daughter, Kathryn Hooper was honor attendant for the bride and the groom's son, Michael McCauley was best man. The bride was escorted by the groom's son, Squire McCauley.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall at the church following the ceremony. A second reception was held at the United Brethren Church C.E. Building in Dayton October 10th. Their vows were renewed by Pastor Greg Brownell. Sharlene Steinhoff was in charge of the guest book.

Hostesses for the reception were Marilyn Groom, Sarah Literal, Arla Startin and Carol Sexton. Music was provided on the keyboard by Merna Davis. The couple were honored with vocals by the bride's daughter Merilisa Hurst who sang "May You Always" and the bride's son, Dick Hurst who wrote the words and sang "Loves Perfect Song," a reflection on their love story.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Gatlinburg, Tenn. and across the United States from Knoxville to their home in Dayton.

Took In More Territory

By Pink

The ride next Sunday will be led by Bill Day and he advises that the unloading should probably be made at the Broughton corrals on Robinson fork. You'll have to carry your eats, Bill says, as no pickup can get to where the noon stop will be made.

As one of 26 adults, two youngsters and riding one of 27 horses, I took a ride Sunday. The ride was under the auspices of the Horseshoe Riding club and through the courtesy of Elmer McCauley and Lawrence Neace my horse was hauled to and from the starting place and Mrs. McCauley extended the McCauley hospitality and sat me at a chicken dinner at noon. It was really quite a day for a reporter.

Going up the Patit we found some wonderful wheat. This part of Columbia county will probably have the best yield of wheat it ever had. The peas, too, look wonderful. Dewey Donohue has in several hundred acres of peas which, if the bloom has anything to do with the yield, will probably top anything the county has ever raised. The field with its covering of deep green and a veil of white pea-blossom lace, is quite a sight to see. At some angles the white of the blossoms look like a solid sheet.

Climbed the Mountain

The start of the ride was at 10 a. m. from a point about two miles south of the Harold Hopkins farm. We started up a long canyon and the way is known as the Vaughn grade. We followed a road on which there was no gravel or dust and the earth was damp with the stored moisture of a wet spring season. We passed the fading signs of a pioneer's sawmill; said to be that of the late Ernest Hopkins, one of his first.

Going up the grade Clifton and Byrl McCauley told of how they used to haul wood off that mountain, down that road when they were first married. Told of other folks doing the same thing; told of runaways with teams, of near accidents and fatal accidents wherein some of the hardy pioneers ran into the tragedies of their way of life.

They Lived There

We passed the old log cabins falling apart in decay where in former years some man's woman cooked and sewed and carried water and bore children, and she must have been lucky if she "got out to civilization" twice a year.

The iron nerve and strength of character it must have taken for those early settlers to hew their way. I doubt if today there are more of their kind in existence; reduced to such circumstances we'd go on the relief rolls, denying that we could get along without our automobile, radio and daily newspaper.

But when those hardy pioneers moved out or died off, they left a country beautiful at this time of year. In all the clearings the grass is high and lush; in the borders and through the timber wild columbine, Indian paint brushes and numerous other flowers are in bloom. The warm sunshine, the timber's intricate pattern of shadows, the atmosphere faintly tinged with the tingle of chill, the perfume of pine and fir, the lonely road

winding its way around blind curves each of which held a new promise of vision; or open glades or ridge points from which magnificent distances could be viewed.

Staked Their Hopes

Our trail lead us by one of those cabins wherein a husband and wife had staked their hopes; the father cutting cordwood and hauling it with a team the 20 miles to town; a mother doing the interminable chores of the housewife, and together they raised 11 children.

We came upon the breaks of the Tucanon and with the light blue-tinted haze of the canyon it looked thousands of feet deep; rugged and challenging to those who like to climb or ride up or down.

The riders met their dinner carried in the pickup of "Scotty" Scott at the McLarry cabin on Malony mountain. Mrs. Scott and "Scotty's" mother, and Mrs. Elmer McCauley and her other daughter and her daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Seney joined the party. All ate heartily as becomes those who traverse the rugged country and breath deeply the keen air of the forest clad hills.

Visited Air Strip

From the lunch stop the caravan rode to the Grupe school and to the Walter Eaton place where they visited with Fred Banks at the bud worm spraying headquarters and visited the air strip graded on that mountain ridge and saw the big Ford planes with which the spraying is done. It seems fantastic that such a modern layout should be set down up there in the midst of surroundings of a rugged frontier so shortly passed. Other signs of the times seemingly out of place was where the road had been cleared by bulldozers and a crawler tractor sitting out in the brush apparently for the moment abandoned.

Leaving the air strip we headed for the spot from whence we had made our start. How in the world Elmer McCauley, who lead us, followed that "trail" is a mystery. The trail has long since become overgrown but he pushed his horse through the tangle of grass and shrubs and brush and trees and now and then enough evidence of an established trail could be seen to prove that he was following a trail. We dropped into the bottom of the gulch wherein the "Little Starveout" stream, tributary to the Patit creek, had its beginning as a heavy flowing spring "up at the tanks." Finding a way down this stream Pilot Elmer did a remarkable job. But on the other hand, he told of the times, the many times, he had gathered and herded cattle out of the region, of being overtaken there by darkness, and other experiences which, after all, qualified him for the job he was doing on this trip.

Leaving the stream he took us out onto Starveout ridge, turned east and by following the road came back to our trucks. Our horses had quieted in the end. We had learned where all the seams in our breeches were. We felt the age which is creeping into our knees, and thus endeth an enjoyable day by a congenial group. Coming to the end we found Jim Lowry, an enthusiastic member of the group who that day couldn't go along, waiting to greet us and I know Jim must have been greatly devoted to his duties to pass up that ride.

Have 50th Wedding Celebration

—Photos by Strode's Dawn Ray Studio.

Dr. and Mrs. George McCauley celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house at Dorsey's banquet room, from 2 to 5. A large number of friends called to congratulate the pioneer couple who have spent their entire lives in this county.

The serving table was centered with a huge wedding cake topped with the traditional '50', trimmed with lovebirds and roses with golden leaves. The cake was flanked with a pair of silver candlesticks holding golden tapers. The candlesticks were gifts to Mrs. McCauley's mother, the late Mrs. C. H. Day, on her golden wedding anniversary. Baskets of yellow and orange chrysanthemums completed the decorative scheme.

For the occasion Mrs. McCauley wore a blue tulle crepe dress and had a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Dr. McCauley displayed a white carnation boutonniere.

During the afternoon Mrs. Herbert Becker sang several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson Goodrich on the piano, and Mrs. Oscar McCauley furnished several piano selections.

Those at the serving table were: pouring, Mrs. Fred Patton and Mrs. Robert Logan, Mrs. Harry Moe and Miss Beryl Day, and Mrs. W. W. Day and Mrs. Leonard Thompson of Bellingham, in one-hour periods; the McCauleys' daughters, Mrs. John Buerger of Tekoa and Mrs. Forrest Loftis of Seattle served cake and Mrs. Walter Crane and Mrs. Paul Conklin served punch. Assisting with the serving were the McCauleys' granddaughters, Miss Carol Loftis and Miss Lao Crane. Mrs. Guy Jones was in charge of the guest book.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Frank Barclay of Walla Walla, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hadley of Pomeroy, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Thompson of Bellingham, Mr. and Mrs. John Buerger and family of Tekoa, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Loftis and family of Seattle, Mrs. Walter Crane and daughter, Lao, of Tacoma, Judge and Mrs. E. V. Kuykendall of Pomeroy, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Barclay and Kay of Walla Walla,

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Reeseman of Walla Walla; Mr. and Mrs. Byron McCauley of Kennewick, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCauley of Kennewick.

The files of the old Columbia Chronicle had the following story of the McCauleys' wedding:

McCauley-Day Nuptials

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Day, when their daughter Hattie and George McCauley were united in marriage by the Rev. J. D. Jones.

The bride was dressed in white crepe de Paris and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Lucille Darwin of Walla Walla acted as bridesmaid. The groom was dressed in the regulation black, and Mr. Bert Monnett acted as groomsman. Mrs. George Price played the wedding march from Wagner's Lohengrin. The ceremony took place at eight o'clock sharp. The residence was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, carnations and roses.

After the ceremony a bountiful wedding supper was served, the table being lighted up with handsome candelabra. Among those present besides the family of the bride were the following: Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Guernsey, Miss Helen Guernsey, Mr. and Mrs. George Price, Mrs. Harry Turner, Walla Walla, Miss Lucille Darwin, Walla Walla, Miss Aral Holmes, Miss Ruby Moody, Miss Bessie Rees and Miss Florence Rees of Waitsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clark, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Hanger, Mr. A. A. Monnett, Mrs. Will Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Guy H. Jones, Mr. T. C. Pringle, Mr. H. N. Pringle, Mrs. Leivell, Miss Freda Baird, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Jones.

The couple were the recipients of many pretty and valuable presents. After the ceremony a few of the guests followed the bride and groom to their home and literally covered both the inside and out with rice. George says when he wants rice all he has to do is to shake some article of furniture and he is liberally supplied.

Golden Wedding Reception to Fete Earl Winnetts Saturday Afternoon

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Winnett, Route 1, will be honored guests Saturday afternoon, February 25, at a reception observing their Golden Wedding anniversary.

The 50th anniversary reception will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. in the banquet room of Dorsey's Restaurant. All friends of the couple are invited to attend. Hosts and hostesses for the event will be their three children and families: Mr. and Mrs. Mel (Wilma) Hollinger of Blaine, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne (Norma Lee) Berry of Bellevue and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Winnett of Dayton.

The couple exchanged marriage vows January 31, 1917, in Dayton.

Winnett, who came to Columbia county at the age of two years, is the son of Lewis and Nola Laughery Winnett, early day residents. His wife, Lucille, is a native daughter of Columbia county. She is the daughter of W. F. and Nellie Crossler McCauley, county pioneers.

Retired in 1963

Winnett retired in January, 1963, from the Columbia county road department after serving for 22 years. He was a foreman and equipment operator for the department. He is still called upon to use his skill in operating a grader.

The couple was formerly active in the Horse Shoe Riding Club, Modern Woodmen, Dayton Home Economics Club and Royal Neighbors. They are members of the Christian church and Mrs. Winnett is still a member of the Tuesday Sewing Club.

They formerly lived in Dayton but now are making their home on Route 1 just west of the city. They purchased a large mobile home about three years ago and have landscaped the grounds around the unit.

In addition to their three children, Mr. and Mrs. Winnett have seven grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

He has a sister, Mrs. Hattie Spencer at The Dalles, Oregon, and four brothers, Ora Winnett and C. A. Winnett, both Dayton, Otto Winnett in Walla Walla and Everett Winnett in The Dalles. Mrs. Winnett has one sister, Mrs. Loree Rushing at Napa, Calif., and two brothers, Eldon McCauley and Oscar "Skip" McCauley, both of Dayton.

THEIR 60th—Mr. and Mrs. Eldon E. McCauley, 206 W. I Ave., pose for the Chronicle photographer prior to celebratory their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday, December 15. Mr. McCauley was in the service station business for over 43 years retiring June 1, 1960.

McCauley's Celebrate 60th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon E. McCauley, 206 W. Dayton Ave., will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday, December 15.

The Dayton couple exchanged wedding vows December 15, 1914 at the Christian parsonage here before the Reverend Slimp.

McCauley is a native of Dayton, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W.F. McCauley, county pioneers. W.F. McCauley was also a native son of the county. Mrs. McCauley is the former Anna Johnson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arne Johnson. She was born in Fargo, North Dakota, coming to Dayton in the Spring of 1914 to visit her cousin.

After their marriage, McCauley farmed in the Bundy

Hollow district of the county and was associated with his late brother, James M. McCauley, in the Dayton Dray and Delivery.

In 1926 he entered the service station business. Although he retired June 1, 1960 after 43 years in the business, he assisted his son-in-law, Howard Smith, in the operation of Eldon's Union Service.

His first station was with Standard in the present location of the Blue Mountain Ford, Inc. garage. After one-and-a-half years he moved to a Texaco station and remained with this company until 1935 when he bought out Rex Davis who was operating the Union Station at Second and Main. He was at this location until 1942 when he moved to Pasco to operate a station there and later to Walla Walla to run another station.

Returning to Dayton in 1943, McCauley opened the station at Second and Main which had been closed for a year. In 1950, this station was switched to Phillips and McCauley stayed there until June, 1955.

At this time, he bought out George Schlegel who had the Union Station at Sixth and Main.

He and his wife are parents of three children: Mrs. Howard (Alice) Smith of Dayton; Wallace E. "Swede" McCauley of Dayton and Mrs. Percy (Ethel) Zimmerman of San Jose, Calif. They also have four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

CROSSED WITH McCAULEY
A Boy of Seven Who Came Along to Show
His Father the Way.

Columbia Chronicle - May 28, 1892

Dayton, Wash. - I will try to give an account of my ship crossing the plains in the pioneer days. You need not expect a flowery story, as you will observe before I get through. The chances for an education in those days were quite different from what they are today. Here goes with my story anyway.

My father left his old home in the state of Illinois in the month of April in the year of 1865. As I was a lad not 7 years of age until the 27th of the month following our departure, of course I was obliged to go along to show the old man the way.

We were all ready to start, and a large number of others that were going in the same train had gathered at our place. There were also numerous relatives present to bid us goodbye and warn us of the big undertaking we were about to embark in, and tell of the dangers we would encounter. But a lad of my age always thinks it is a great thing to go along with a covered wagon, especially if "pap" is driving. I crawled right in and did not apprehend anything dangerous or wearisome about a short trip like that. I will have to omit dates and camping places, as I was too young to pay any attention to such things, but there may be many older ones that will send in their experience and give an account of these things; and you may swear that I was always around close.

Everything went along smoothly with me for a short time. Riding in a covered wagon was a picnic, but my father's team was composed of both horses and cattle, and the oxen soon became tender footed and had to be turned loose and driven behind the wagons.

About this time A. L. McCauley whose account of the trip has appeared in the Ledger, fell in with the train. He thought himself a brave man, and as he had had a "right smart" experience in traveling, especially since the war broke out, and was used to going in the lead and had selected a great many safe camping places for himself during that time, the men thought he would be a good man to hide from the Indians, so he was elected captain. He went ahead and showed my old man the way. I being now relieved of this responsibility, stayed behind the train and drove the tender-footed oxen. When McCauley found a camping place, I always brought up the rear. That was not quite so much of a picnic as some of us old-timers have now-a-days at Shilo. I found out after driving the oxen a few days, that I was going "with" the old man.

For a week or two my job was not as bad as some who have never tried it might imagine. But six months of travel behind the wagons barefooted over sagebrush, sand toads, hot sand and gravel, rattlesnakes, prickly pears, etc., made me sometimes wish I had gone back when the old dog did, or that "pap" had sold me at the sale with the other property. In spite of my disagreeable situation, however, I kept trudging along bound to stay with the crowd. I thought my lot was a rough one when I saw other boys older than myself riding, and occasionally walking just for pleasure. I could not see where the fun came in and thought that if the opportunity was offered, I could stand it to ride all the time. I thought that I had a disadvantage until the Indians got all the stock.

I remember one night that our famous captain said he had found us a good, safe, camping place. The next morning the people were all right, but the horses and cattle were all gone.

For a while it looked like the whole train would have to walk. I did not care so much for myself, but I thought it would be hard on those that were not used to it.

During the day the men got a part of the horses back, and I was feeling pretty good, thinking the rest would get to ride, but along in the afternoon my joyful mood was suddenly changed. All the men excepting a few on the sick list were out after stock, when the captain and some of the other men came running into camp as fast as their horses could carry them. The captain got off his horse, apparently almost scared to death. He told the women that they would never see their men again; that the Indians were coming from every direction. That was in the Wood river country, and it made me feel pretty bad after walking so far. We were all frightened and some of the boys and myself found a hiding place in a wagon.

We got under a feather bed and waited, expecting ever minute that the Indians would come. They did not come, so we came out and found that the captain was feeling rather weak and had laid down to have a rest. Shortly after we came out, one of the men came in leading an Indian pony. It was then learned that the captain and some of the men with him had been running from some of the men belonging to the train, thinking they were Indians. The men found all of their horses but two and captured two Indian ponies. The next day we journeyed on and I felt more like walking, knowing that the others could ride. We did not meet with any more difficulty that seriously attracted my attention. We arrived on the Touchet at Waitsburg in October or November, and, don't you forget it, I had spent many a hot tiresome day having walked about all the way across the plains.

My father rented a farm on the Coppei for one year, and I had a chance to go to school at Waitsburg the following summer. The next year we settled in the Whisky creek hills, three miles from the school and my opportunities for schooling were always limited. After a few years the country had settled up enough to organize another school district, but by this time my father had gone into the sheep business and put me to herding them. I had to herd sheep for three years and most of the time afoot and barefooted at that. In those days high-heeled boots and gaiter shoes were a scarce article.

I have walked across the plains and all over the southwest part of Columbia and a great portion of Walla Walla counties when they were laying out wild and if I can't go to the world's fair without going on foot, I will not take it in, even if "Dad" goes in a covered wagon.—Ledger. R. A. Bundy

Floyd and Frances thinking about the upcoming alumni parade

1999 parade marshals announced

School was a little different for this year's Alumni Parade Marshals Frances and Floyd McCauley. Both are Dayton High School graduates, Frances (Hubbard) in 1936, and Floyd in 1933.

They recently spoke with me about their experiences at Dayton High School. School ran from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and they had an hour for lunch. Students brought sack lunches, because there was no hot lunch program then! In addition to four classes per day they had music, drama and study hall.

Mr. C.A. Nelson was the principal at the time, and Floyd said that the kids called him "CAN." Floyd's favorite teacher was Dan Geysler, who taught math and

Frances' favorite was Dalton Goodrich, a woman who taught math and foreign language. I asked Floyd what his favorite memory of high school was and he quickly replied "FFA." Floyd grew up in the country and didn't get to come back to town in the evening for dances and other activities, but he did get to go on the FFA trips and loved them.

Francis loved the Glee Club, music in general and she accompanied the orchestra on piano. When asked about her worst memory of Dayton High School, Francis immediately said "Dan Geysler." (Remember, he was Floyd's favorite teacher!) When asked why, she said, "He was really strict, and I got in trouble a lot for giggling. He gave Floyd 'A's but I got in trouble."

Neither Floyd nor Francis have a reunion this year, but they have family members coming who do.

Come see them in the Alumni Parade, Saturday, July 17th at 10 a.m. The parade route this year will start at the high school, run down Second Street to Main Street, travel down Main Street to Third Street, then double back and return to the high school on Second Street. Don't miss it!

LESTER McCAULEY LIKES TO KEEP BUSY

A little later than this last year Lester McCauley decided to have his picture taken to send to his kids at Christmas time. It was on the occasion of his 72nd birthday. It impressed Photographer Hayes that Lester was noteworthy, for in spite of his 72 years, he was still "on the job."

Lester for nine years has been watchman at Blue Mountain Canneries and is still on the job today.

Lester was born in Columbia county, a member of a well-known family. Until he received an injury to his spine 37 years ago, he was a farmer. At the time of the accident that made his right arm nearly useless, he was farming in the Palouse country, where he had gone after selling out his farming interests here in 1907.

Quitting the farming game, Lester went into the dray business in Palouse and was there for seven years. Later he returned to Dayton and was in the delivery business nine years. As the years mounted, Lester found it more desirable to ease up in keeping with his age, and sold the delivery business and for a number of years tried his hand at first this and then that, winding up as a watchman for the cannery where he says, "Oh, tell 'em I'm still going strong."

Lester is the father of three daughters, Mrs. James Byerly of Yakima; Mrs. Lyle Webster, Spokane; and Mrs. James Osborn, McMinnville, Oregon.

He thought when Uncle Billy McCauley passed away that he was to be the oldest member of the McCauley clan, but investigation disclosed that Mrs. Gus Prater had him beat a year, he says.

M. McCAULEY GETS NAVY DISCHARGE FRIDAY

Clarence M. McCauley, son-in-law of Mrs. Hattie Dickson, has received his discharge from the navy.

McCauley, who was a hospital corpsman first class stationed at Bremerton, was discharged Friday, June 22. He was recalled to active duty last February from Kennewick where he was elementary school principal.

Mrs. McCauley will be visiting Pomeroy during the summer while he works in the cannery at Dayton. He will return to Kennewick to teach in the fall.—Pomeroy Washingtonian.

Clarence is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McCauley of Dayton.

Standing: Mrs. Seymore Lewis and her daughter, Mrs. Dean Oliver, both of Pendleton. Seated: Mrs. Anna B. McCauley, Dayton, mother of Mrs. Lewis, Cathy Oliver and Mrs. Della (Bundy) Werner, Los Angeles, aunt of Mrs. McCauley. Mr. and Mrs. Werner were here for a couple of weeks visiting Mrs. McCauley. Four generations directly represented in this group; and five generations indirectly.—Pix by Pat.

Miss Beverly McCauley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Derrill McCauley, Mustard street. Miss McCauley is one of less than a dozen students in the state of Washington who are "attending" their school classes right in their own home. An arrangement devised by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company has made this possible.

Miss McCauley, like those other few in the state, has been unable to attend her classes because of physical handicaps. Heretofore the arrangement has been for the schools to furnish a tutor. But the regulations call for only two hours a week and educators knew this wasn't sufficient. There was another angle, too; that was morale.

With the co-operation of the telephone people the new arrangement is keeping the unfortunate youngsters not only "up in their classes" but in touch with the school room. The results are reported to be wonderful. One student, who has been using the new method for a few months, has come up from a disinterested student to a top ranking position in his class.

In the school room there is a microphone; it is swung about seven feet from the floor and picks up all the voices of the room. In the room too is a loud speaker from which Beverly's voice comes, now and then, asking questions or giving answers to problems.

In Beverly's room there is a loud speaker and she hears all that goes on in the class room. When she wants to talk back, she simply presses a button. Beverly has classes in four different rooms, being a member of the eighth grade, and in each room there is a mike.

Beverly, who is 14, suffered an attack of polio in January, 1950. Later arthritis developed. She was out of school most of 1950 and the first six weeks in 1951. Then she got so she could get around on crutches and finally improved to where she could get around without crutches.

In the fall of 1952, however, her trouble worsened and in November she was forced to again leave school. Starting that month the next three were spent in bed. All her friends are happy to report, though, that she is again on the mend.

Last week when Photog Pat visited Beverly she was able to be up in her chair. In her class work she is taking spelling, English, arithmetic, history, health and reading. In oral exams she is able to take her part and in written exams she simply reads her answers to the teachers when she has them ready.

Supt. C. A. Nelson says that the cost of the operation was $60 for the complete installation and that the service runs $32 a month. The state pays this. But so far the experience has shown that student response makes it worth while.

WAS PIONEER OF PIONEERS IN WEST

Mrs. E. McCauley Crossed Plains in 1853—Came Here in 1877.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth McCauley who died December 25 at her home in west Dayton after an illness of long duration were held from the Hubbard-Rogg chapel Thursday at 11 o'clock with the Rev. Marion McQuary, pastor of the First Christian church of Milton, in charge. Interment was made in the family plot in the Dayton cemetery.

Elizabeth Imber was born in Frankfort, Kentucky, March 13, 1841. She lived there until about six years of age when she went with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Imbler, to Iowa. In 1853 the family crossed the plains by ox team and settled in the Willamette valley, Oregon where they lived for ten years or so. They then went to The Dalles, and were there until after the Indian uprising.

In 1865 Elizabeth Imbler and James Glenn were married at Dufur, Oregon, and to this union three children, one daughter and two sons were born. Mr. Glenn died in 1871 and Mrs. Glenn with her three little children then went to the Grande Ronde valley where her parents had in the meantime made a new home for themselves. The present town of Imbler is on the site of Mr. Imbler's homestead which was his family home for many years. On September 2, 1877 Mrs. Glenn was married to Mathew McCauley of Columbia county, Washington and then came here to live. The McCauleys farmed on Whiskey Creek for about 25 years, after which they moved to Dayton and settled on the acreage tract which was Mr. McCauley's home until his death in 1916, and the home where Mrs. McCauley had since lived with her son, Frank McCauley.

Mrs. McCauley was the mother of seven children, but two of whom survive her, and was also a wise and kind mother to several stepchildren. She knew many hardships in her early life but met them with spirit and ability to surmount difficulties, and her life was one of the many constructive ones which made this country what it is today. She was a member of the Christian church for 68 years and was a devoted and active worker until her health failed three years ago.

Mrs. McCauley is survived by two sons, Dr. G. W. McCauley and Frank McCauley both of this city, four grandchildren, Geraldine and Max Glenn of Spokane, and Harriet and Lora McCauley of Dayton. The stepchildren surviving are, Mrs. John Crossler and W. F. McCauley both of this city. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. T. B. Courtney of Walla Walla, and Mrs. Nancy Hall of southern California.

Matthew McCauley Passes

Matthew McCauley, a highly respected pioneer of this city, died at his home in West Dayton at 7:15 a. m. Friday, aged eighty-six years, six months and eight days. Mr. McCauley was confined to his bed but a couple of weeks, his death being the result of old age.

Mr. McCauley was born in Tennessee May 2, 1830. He crossed the plains in 1865 with the McCauleys, Winnetts, Livengoods, Bundys and others, who settled in this county. The pioneers of that train first went to the Willamette valley, and after a residence there of three years, came to Columbia county in 1865. All took up land and Mr. McCauley lead the life of a farmer until he retired from active work several years ago.

Mr. McCauley is survived by his wife and five children, as follows: Mrs. J. A. Crossler, A. L. McCauley, Frank McCauley, Dr. George McCauley and William F. McCauley, all of this city.

The funeral will be held today at 2 o'clock from the Christian church.

20 June 1920

A. L. McCauley

Another well-known and respected pioneer, A. L. McCauley, has passed away. He died at his home in this city Tuesday morning at one o'clock after an illness of some duration. He was about 65 years of age and came to this country when a very young man, settling upon a homestead of which he afterwards made a very fine farm. He had always been actively engaged in farming until a short time ago, and was very successful. He is survived by his widow and four children who are Mrs. Louis Corbett of Walla Walla, Clint, Lester and Elmer McCauley of the Palouse country. The funeral will be held from the home this afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. W. C. Gilmore officiating.

NANCY E. CROSSLER

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the Christian church for Mrs. Nancy E. Crossler, widow of the late John Crossler, with Rev. Donald Ross officiating.

Mrs. Crossler, together with her brother, W. F. McCauley, was rated as the oldest resident of the county in point of years of residence.

Nancy E. Crossler, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McCauley was born in Natchez, Mississippi, September 29, 1862. She crossed the plains with her parents when six or seven years old and arrived in Columbia county in 1869.

She was married to John Crossler in 1878 who had also crossed the plains with his parents at about the same time as the McCauleys came west. Both she and her husband were life-long members of the Presbyterian church.

Survivors are Cora B. Turner, Lewiston; Mrs. Chas. (Lilly) Hatfield, Wm. A. Crossler, and Chas. Crossler of Dayton; Mrs. Charles (Nona E.) Heady, Seattle; one brother, W. F. McCauley, Dayton; 18 grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Frank McCauley Died Saturday

Frank McCauley, native, 69, was found dead in his home Sunday morning. It is thought he died the evening before and while sitting in his favorite chair. He lived across the street from his only brother and immediate relative, George McCauley, and being a bachelor lived alone.

28 Aug 1958

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Hubbard-Rogg chapel with Rev. Chas. Graybeal officiating and with the Odd Fellows Lodge participating in a memorial service.

Born in Columbia county March 5, 1884, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew McCauley, pioneer residents, he had spent his entire life in this community. Until he retired some years ago, Frank followed farming.

W. F. McCauley

W. F. McCauley was born on Whiskey creek in this county January 29, 1869. He started farming for himself in 1893 and as he puts it, "Wheat was 80 cents a bushel but before I could get my crop harvested it had gone down to 20 cents a bushel. It took me ten years to get over that handicap."

Bill has been terrifically interested in politics and economics all his life. Given an opportunity Bill is more apt to talk on one of these subjects rather than farming. He believes, and has for a long time, in a dollar with a world-wide standard of value. And he says there never was a surplus of any crop; whenever you hear of a surplus, he says, put it down as so much tommyrot; the difficulty is restricted distribution because of the difference in exchange dollars.

Although Bill will usually be found lined up with the Democratic candidates, he says he doesn't stick to a name, his guiding influence is principle.

Bill was married to Nellie Crossler in December 13, 1887; after bearing six children she passed away in November of 1903. A year later he was married to Anna E. Olin, who still makes Bill's life comfortable. This union bore four children.

Of this family five children survive: Byron F. and Eldon of Dayton; Mrs. Loree Rushing of Modesto, Calif.; Mrs. Earl Winnett, and Oscar (Skip) of Dayton, and 19 grandchildren.

During the peak of Bill's career he was working for better, more stable conditions for the wheat farmer. He was one of the active backers of the McNary-Hogan bill which was calculated to have a domestic price of wheat on a parity level and the surplus sold on the world market, and the world market price supported by a tax on the domestic wheat. Bill believes the Wall street bankers kept this bill from being made into law, and excuses the Roosevelt administration on the grounds of politics.

When his work for the wheat grower came to an end, he took up

OLDEST NATIVE DIES SUNDAY

William Francis McCauley, Columbia county's oldest native-born son, died Sunday morning in Brining Memorial hospital after a three weeks illness. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Christian church with Rev. Earl Miller and Rev. Donald Ross in charge.

Long a well known resident here, Mr. McCauley was born January 29, 1869, on Whiskey Creek near Dayton, and has lived in the county all his life. His familiar white hair and mustache were almost a trade mark on Main street since the town was formed. He thrilled many a newcomer to Dayton with tales of "the early days of the county."

Receiving his education in rural schools of the county, he became intensely interested in the Townsend club and was its head for many years. He was elected as a state representative in 1934 and served his people ably.

Giving his life to farming, he was a representative in the Northwest Wheatgrowers association for several years and was a sincere booster for this organization and others like it. He was also intensely interested in politics.

He married the former Anna Olin in Walla Walla in November of 1904, and they shared their home both on a farm and in Dayton.

Survivors include his wife, Anna McCauley; five children, Byron F. McCauley, Eldon E. McCauley, W. Oscar McCauley, Mrs. Earl (Lucile) Winnett, all of Dayton, and Mrs. T. R. (Loree) Rushing of Modesto, California; 18 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren; two brothers, Dr. George McCauley and Frank McCauley of Dayton.

Mrs. Lester McCauley. 1917

The funeral of Mrs. Lester McCauley, who died Saturday, December the 22nd, was held at Palouse, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Mrs. McCauley was formerly a Dayton woman and the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McCauley of this city. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Winnett, of Walla Walla, her husband, and three children, Ethel, Fleta and Edna.

L. McCauley Dies Tuesday; Funeral Today

Lester B. McCauley, 80, native son of Columbia county, passed away at 5 a. m. Tuesday, July 29, at St. Mary's hospital in Walla Walla where he had undergone three surgical operations in the past two weeks.

Mr. McCauley had been in falling health since April.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. today, July 31, from the Christian church. The Rev. C. M. Foust will officiate. Interment will be in the family plot at Dayton City Cemetery.

Mr. McCauley was born in a log house in Bundy Hollow on March 10, 1878, the son of the late Andrew L. and Anna B. McCauley, pioneers of Columbia county who settled here in 1864. He attended rural schools at Winnett and Bundy.

In 1880 at the home on Whiskey Creek of Lewis and Eliza Winnett, county pioneers, he and the late Myrtle O. Winnett were married.

The couple farmed here until 1907 when they moved to Palouse where he farmed until 1915. At that time he lost the use of his right arm in a farm accident. After this they moved into Palouse where he was in the dray business. In 1920 McCauley returned to Dayton.

During his life here, he worked in the business now known as the Smoke Shop, operated a popcorn stand at the corner of Second and Main and later re-entered the dray business.

In 1936 he and the former Fannie Walls were married. He left the dray business and they operated a small dairy. Later he was in the real estate business.

He was a life-long member of the Christian church and a member of the Woodmen of the World.

Survivors include his wife, Fannie, of Dayton, and three daughters, Mrs. Edna Byerly of Yakima, Mrs. Ethel Webster of Spokane, and Mrs. Fleta Osborne of McMinnville, Oregon; one grandson and three great-grand daughters.

Lester McCauley, Native Son, Passes 80th Birthday Mark

Lester McCauley, native son of Columbia county, who celebrated his 80th birthday Monday, March 10, will be remembered by many residents as owner of the local transfer and dray business years ago and he will be remembered by others as the owner of the popular popcorn stand at the corner of Third and Main streets.

McCauley is a well-known figure in Dayton and the county. He was honored March 10 by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Clint McCauley, with a birthday dinner. A few days later he and Mrs. May Patrick were guests at a birthday party given by Mrs. Fannie McCauley. He and Mrs. Patrick have birthdays on the same day.

Born in Log House

Born in a log house in Bundy Hollow on March 10, 1878, McCauley is the son of the late Andrew L. and Anna E. McCauley, pioneers of the county who settled here in 1864. He attended rural schools at Winnett and Bundy and after school worked on the Bundy Hollow farm with his father

In 1889 at the home on Whiskey Creek of Lewis and Eliza Winnett, county pioneers, he and the late Myrtle O. Winnett were married.

For a number of years the couple rented one-half of his father's farm. They sold their interest in 1907 and moved to Palouse where they farmed until 1915. It was at this time that McCauley lost the use of his right arm. The accident occurred as he was bridling a horse. The animal reared and McCauley fell, striking his head and shoulder. Doctors, at that time, were unable to cure the injury, and he has been forced to do without the use of his arm for over 40 years.

Started Dray Business

After the injury, McCauley sold his farming equipment, moved off the 550-acre farm he was renting and located in Palouse where he and his wife purchased a home. In partnership with Richard Robertson, he operated a horse and wagon dray and transfer business. The two men operated the first truck, a Model T Ford, used in the Palouse country.

With the death of his wife in 1917, McCauley sold his interest in the dray business but remained in Palouse with his daughters until 1920. In that year his father passed away in Dayton, and he returned home to be with his mother.

During this time he worked for four years for his uncle, John Crossler, who owned and operated the business now known as the Smoke Shop.

Opens Popcorn Stand

Later he opened a popcorn stand at the corner of Main and Third streets, in front of the former Edwards-Hindle store. He operated this stand until 1930, when he leased it to Bud Quinn. In 1926, when the highway was constructed through Dayton, he remembered that he used 3000 pounds of raw popcorn. He ordered the 100 pound sacks of corn from Nampa, Ida.

After leasing the popcorn stand, he bought into the dray and transfer business, Dayton Dray Co., with his cousin Marvin McCauley.

When they operated the business they originally owned four of the six trucks in the county. They owned two Fords, a Dodge and a Moreland. The two other trucks were owned by Benny Turner and John Black.

While operating the dray business, McCauley was agent for three truck lines and did collecting and delivery for the two railroad depots. He was agent for a Seattle trucking firm, for Inland Motor Freight and Consolidated Freightways.

In 1936 he left the dray business. About this same time, he and Mrs. Fannie Walls were married and continued to live in Dayton. They operated a small dairy for several years and then he went into the real estate business, buying and selling homes.

Ten years ago he moved into his present home at 508 E. Washington where McCauley keeps busy with his garden spot and with numerous small chores around the house.

He and his wife are life-long members of the Christian church, and McCauley is a member of the Woodmen of the World.

McCauley has three daughters and is proud of his grandson and three great granddaughters. His daughters are Mrs. Edna Byerly of Yakima, Mrs. Ethel Webster of Spokane and Mrs. Fleta Osborne of McMinnville, Oregon. His grandson is James Osborne, Jr. of Fresno, Calif.

Master Howard McCauley.

A telegram was received by Dr. W. W. Day Tuesday announcing the death of little Howard McCauley at Rochester, Minn., Monday night following an operation for the removal of a tumor at the base of his brain.

The child was the only son of Dr. and Mrs. George McCauley of this city, who took him to Rochester about two weeks ago, where it was found that the undergoing of a very delicate operation was the only chance he had of recovery, and only slight hope was held out then. ## ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

Beautiful Young Woman Takes Overdose of Chloroform.

Wednesday afternoon the people of this city were shocked to learn that Mrs. Ina M. Parker had passed away about 3 o'clock after she had taken an overdose of chloroform presumably to induce sleep. It appears that she had been doing housework at her parents' home near the corner of Richmond avenue and Front street and had gone upstairs to take a rest, and said she would finish her work after having a nap. It is alleged that she was in the habit of using chloroform to induce sleep and the presumption is she took an overdose this time, as she was found lying on the bed apparently asleep, but life had already become extinct. Dr. Miller was called but nothing could be done.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McCauley and besides her parents had three brothers, Elmer, Lester and Clint, who have been living in the Palouse country, and one sister, Miss Ora McCauley.

The deceased secured a divorce from her husband, William Parker, about a month ago and was given custody of her little daughter about two years old. She was only 18 years old at the time of her death.

The funeral was held from the family home in Brooklyn at 10 a. m. yesterday.

When the rural free delivery service was instituted here horse-drawn wagons were used, and driving the route took almost the entire day. Roads were not improved in those days, and the trips were very difficult to make the greater part of the time. With the coming of the automobile and good roads his work was more easily handled, but he had well earned the retirement he was looking forward to, and which was due in a very short time.

He was a member of the First Christian church and the Odd Fellows, Rebekah and Modern Woodmen lodges. He was known throughout the entire district, and had hundreds of friends who deeply mourn his loss.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Anna McCauley; seven children, Mrs. Raymond James, Phoenix, Arizona; Versel D. McCauley, Eugene, Oregon; Mrs. Thyrsa Lewis, Osborne; Mrs. Clayton Moxley, Waitsburg, and Mrs. Clarence Shea, Darrel J. McCauley and Mary Lou McCauley, all of Dayton. He also leaves four brothers, Jess, Grover, Charles and E.R. McCauley all of this county, and nine grandchildren.

WAS PIONEER OF PIONEERS IN WEST

Mrs. E. McCauley Crossed Plains in 1853—Came Here in 1877.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth McCauley who died December 25 at her home in west Dayton after an illness of long duration were held from the Hubbard-Rogg chapel Thursday at 11 o'clock with the Rev. Marion McQuary, pastor of the First Christian church of Milton, in charge. Interment was made in the family plot in the Dayton cemetery.

Elizabeth Imber was born in Frankfort, Kentucky, March 13, 1841. She lived there until about six years of age when she went with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Imbler, to Iowa. In 1853 the family crossed the plains by ox team and settled in the Willamette valley, Oregon where they lived for ten years or so. They then went to The Dalles, and were there until after the Indian uprising.

In 1865 Elizabeth Imbler and James Glenn were married at Dufur, Oregon, and to this union three children, one daughter and two sons were born. Mr. Glenn died in 1871 and Mrs. Glenn with her three little children then went to the Grande Ronde valley where her parents had in the meantime made a new home for themselves. The present town of Imbler is on the site of Mr. Imbler's homestead which was his family home for many years. On September 2, 1877 Mrs. Glenn was married to Mathew McCauley of Columbia county, Washington and then came here to live. The McCauleys farmed on Whiskey Creek for about 25 years, after which they moved to Dayton and settled on the acreage tract which was Mr. McCauley's home until his death in 1916, and the home where Mrs. McCauley had since lived with her son, Frank McCauley.

Mrs. McCauley was the mother of seven children, but two of whom survive her, and was also a wise and kind mother to several stepchildren. She knew many hardships in her early life but met them with spirit and ability to surmount difficulties, and her life was one of the many constructive ones which made this country what it is today. She was a member of the Christian church for 68 years and was a devoted and active worker until her health failed three years ago.

Mrs. McCauley is survived by two sons, Dr. G. W. McCauley and Frank McCauley both of this city, four grandchildren, Geraldine and Max Glenn of Spokane, and Harriet and Lora McCauley of Dayton. The stepchildren surviving are, Mrs. John Crossler and W. F. McCauley both of this city. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. T. B. Courtney of Walla Walla, and Mrs. Nancy Hall of southern California.

W. F. McCauley

W. F. McCauley was born on Whiskey creek in this county January 29, 1869. He started farming for himself in 1893 and as he puts it, "Wheat was 80 cents a bushel but before I could get my crop harvested it had gone down to 20 cents a bushel. It took me ten years to get over that handicap."

Bill has been terrifically interested in politics and economics all his life. Given an opportunity Bill is more apt to talk on one of these subjects rather than farming. He believes, and has for a long time, in a dollar with a world-wide standard of value. And he says there never was a surplus of any crop; whenever you hear of a surplus, he says, put it down as so much tommyrot; the difficulty is restricted distribution because of the difference in exchange dollars.

Although Bill will usually be found lined up with the Democratic candidates, he says he doesn't stick to a name, his guiding influence is principle.

Bill was married to Nellie Crossler in December 13, 1887; after bearing six children she passed away in November of 1903. A year later he was married to Anna E. Olin, who still makes Bill's life comfortable. This union bore four children.

Of this family five children survive: Byron F. and Eldon of Dayton; Mrs. Loree Rushing of Modesto, Calif.; Mrs. Earl Winnett, and Oscar (Skip) of Dayton, and 19 grandchildren.

During the peak of Bill's career he was working for better, more stable conditions for the wheat farmer. He was one of the active backers of the McNary-Hogan bill which was calculated to have a domestic price of wheat on a parity level and the surplus sold on the world market, and the world market price supported by a tax on the domestic wheat. Bill believes the Wall street bankers kept this bill from being made into law, and excuses the Roosevelt administration on the grounds of politics.

When his work for the wheat grower came to an end, he took up

Lester McCauley, Native Son, Passes 80th Birthday Mark

Lester McCauley, native son of Columbia county, who celebrated his 80th birthday Monday, March 10, will be remembered by many residents as owner of the local transfer and dray business years ago and he will be remembered by others as the owner of the popular

popcorn stand at the corner of Third and Main streets.

McCauley is a well-known figure in Dayton and the county. He was honored March 10 by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Clint McCauley, with a birthday dinner. A few days later he and Mrs. May Patrick were guests at a birthday party given by Mrs. Fannie McCauley. He and Mrs. Patrick have birthdays on the same day.

Born in Log House

Born in a log house in Bundy Hollow on March 10, 1878, McCauley is the son of the late Andrew L. and Anna E. McCauley, pioneers of the county who settled here in 1864. He attended rural schools at Winnett and Bundy and after school worked on the Bundy Hollow farm with his father

key Creek of Lewis and Eliza Winnett, county pioneers, he and the late Myrtle O. Winnett were married.

For a number of years the couple rented one-half of his father's farm. They sold their interest in 1907 and moved to Palouse where they farmed until 1915. It was at this time that McCauley lost the use of his right arm. The accident occurred as he was bridling a horse. The animal reared and McCauley fell, striking his head and shoulder. Doctors, at that time, were unable to cure the injury, and he has been forced to do without the use of his arm for over 40 years.

Started Dray Business

After the injury, McCauley sold his farming equipment, moved off the 550-acre farm he was renting and located in Palouse where he and his wife purchased a home. In partnership with Richard Robertson, he operated a horse and wagon dray and transfer business. The two men operated the first truck, a Model T Ford, used in the Palouse country.

With the death of his wife in 1917, McCauley sold his interest in the dray business but remained in Palouse with his daughters until 1920. In that year his father passed away in Dayton, and he returned home to be with his mother.

During this time he worked for four years for his uncle, John Crossler, who owned and operated the business now known as the Smoke Shop.

Opens Popcorn Stand

Later he opened a popcorn stand at the corner of Main and Third streets, in front of the former Edwards-Hindle store. He operated this stand until 1930, when he leased it to Bud Quinn. In 1926, when the highway was constructed through Dayton, he remembered that he used 3000 pounds of raw popcorn. He ordered the 100 pound sacks of corn from Nampa, Ida.

After leasing the popcorn stand, he bought into the dray and transfer business, Dayton Dray Co., with his cousin Marvin McCauley.

When they operated the business they originally owned four of the six trucks in the county. They owned two Fords, a Dodge and a Moreland. The two other trucks were owned by Benny Turner and John Black.

While operating the dray business, McCauley was agent for three truck lines and did collecting and delivery for the two railroad depots. He was agent for a Seattle trucking firm, for Inland Motor Freight and Consolidated Freightways.

In 1936 he left the dray business. About this same time, he and Mrs. Fannie Walls were married and continued to live in Dayton. They operated a small dairy for several years and then he went into the real estate business, buying and selling homes.

Ten years ago he moved into his present home at 508 E. Washington where McCauley keeps busy with his garden spot and with numerous small chores around the house.

He and his wife are life-long members of the Christian church, and McCauley is a member of the Woodmen of the World.

McCauley has three daughters and is proud of his grandson and three great granddaughters. His daughters are Mrs. Edna Byerly of Yakima, Mrs. Ethel Webster of Spokane and Mrs. Fleta Osborne of McMinnville, Oregon. His grandson is James Osborne, Jr. of Fresno, Calif.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

Beautiful Young Woman Takes Overdose of Chloroform.

Wednesday afternoon the people of this city were shocked to learn that Mrs. Ina M. Parker had passed away about 3 o'clock after she had taken an overdose of chloroform presumably to induce sleep. It appears that she had been doing housework at her parents' home near the corner of Richmond avenue and Front street and had gone upstairs to take a rest, and said she would finish her work after having a nap. It is alleged that she was in the habit of using chloroform to induce sleep and the presumption is she took an overdose this time, as she was found lying on the bed apparently asleep, but life had already become extinct. Dr. Miller was called but nothing could be done.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McCauley and besides her parents had three brothers, Elmer, Lester and Clint, who have been living in the Palouse country, and one sister, Miss Ora McCauley.

The deceased secured a divorce from her husband, William Parker, about a month ago and was given custody of her little daughter about two years old. She was only 18 years old at the time of her death.

The funeral was held from the family home in Brooklyn at 10 a. m. yesterday.

When the rural free delivery service was instituted here horse-drawn wagons were used, and driving the route took almost the entire day. Roads were not improved in those days, and the trips were very difficult to make the greater part of the time. With the coming of the automobile and good roads his work was more easily handled, but he had well earned the retirement he was looking forward to, and which was due in a very short time.

He was a member of the First Christian church and the Odd Fellows, Rebekah and Modern Woodmen lodges. He was known throughout the entire district, and had hundreds of friends who deeply mourn his loss.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Anna McCauley: seven children, Mrs. Raymond James, Phoenix, Arizona; Versel D. McCauley, Eugene, Oregon; Mrs. Thyrsa Lewis, Osborne; Mrs. Clayton Moxley, Waitsburg, and Mrs. Clarence Shea, Darrel J. McCauley and Mary Lou McCauley, all of Dayton. He also leaves four brothers, Jess, Grover, Charles and E.R. McCauley all of this county, and nine grandchildren.

Death of A. L. McCauley.

In the death of A. L. McCauley, at his home in this city Tuesday at 7 p. m., another pioneer has gone across the great divide. Mr. McCauley was one of the best known men in this section of the state, having been here and near Waitsburg since 1875. He was born in Ballard county, Kentucky, April 18, 1832. In 1857 he went to Illinois and from there to Texas, where he was a year, returning again to Illinois. In 1865 he came west to Polk county, Oregon, remaining there a year when he moved onto a farm near Waitsburg, coming thence to Dayton in 1875, where he has lived ever since. He was twice married, the first time to Mrs. Lucinda Stovall in Kentucky. She died here about 16 years ago. His second spouse was Mrs. Jennie Brennan, who survives him, as also do three sons and one daughter, John A., S. M., S. D. and Mrs. A. S. Bennett of The Dalles, Oregon, all of whom were at the death of their father. One stepson P. M. Stovall of Turner, and one stepdaughter, Mrs. M. Jones of Labett county, Kansas, also survive him. When Mr. McCauley came here he was installed as weaver and dyer at the Dayton Woolen mills. After which he was elected city marshal for eight years, when the town was a tough frontier post, filled with a horde of lawbreakers. His history in this city during that time would make an interesting book, for his bravery in upholding the law brought out very prominently his fearlessness. He has seen this country develop from a wilderness, when the Indians were running wild to its present advanced civilization.

The funeral took place Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Christian church on Third street, Rev. W. H. Harris officiating.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.—About six o'clock last Saturday evening, Newton, the 10-year-old son of S. M. McCauley, who lives seven miles southeast of Dayton, met a shocking death. The little fellow was herding the cows in the pasture to keep them from straying into the grain fields, there being no fence between. He was riding a horse formerly owned by Dr. W. W. Day, and known as Ben, a gentle family horse 18 years old. Newton was riding bareback, having in addition to the bridle a short halter rope about the horse's neck. For some purpose he had tied this rope about his waist in a slip knot. No one saw the sort of the accident, but it is probable that the horse, in his efforts to nibble the rank pasture grass, threw the boy off, and then becoming frightened, ran. The first known of the accident the father coming out of the house from supper, saw the horse running with the body of his boy at the end of the rope dashing against the fences, striking the ground and rebounding into the air. Giving the alarm, he started toward the scene on foot while another son mounted a horse and started after the runaway. The rope broke, releasing the lifeless body just before being overtaken by the brother, who upon beholding the mangled remains, screamed and fainted. About this time the father arrived and fell in a dead faint. Andrew McCauley hearing the screams, soon arrived and carried the body and the inestimable father to the house. The boy's neck was broken, the whole top of his head torn loose from the back part and thrown forward over his face and he was otherwise horribly bruised and mutilated. His little hat was found mashed into the earth, and it is believed that his neck was broken at the first stroke of the horse's hoofs. The lifeless body was dragged nearly a mile before the rope broke. The funeral took place Sunday at the Bundy cemetery and was very largely attended by friends and sympathizing neighbors, Elder S. Hamilton delivering the funeral discourse. The parents were prostrated by the shock and the father is still quite feeble.

Prominent Farm Leader Succumbs Thursday Eve to Short Illness

M. L. McCauley, 58, known to his friends as "Schooner," died Thursday evening at the Brining Memorial hospital after a short illness. In his death the northwest lost a farm leader active in a half dozen farm organizations. Mr. McCauley had not been feeling well for several days but was able to get around. Thursday afternoon about five o'clock he suddenly collapsed and was rushed to the hospital where emergency treatment failed to show results and the doctor came four hours later without regaining consciousness.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at two o'clock from the Hubbard-Rogg chapel with Rev. Tom McCamant officiating.

He was born July 9, 1882, in Dayton, and was graduated from the local school system. He entered farming and after the death of his father managed the farm which was owned cooperatively by the family. He continued his farming interests and found time for work in many farm organization activities until his death. Mr. McCauley was president of the Washington Wheat League, president of the Columbia and Garfield county Farm Loan Association, chairman of the Columbia County A. A. A. committee, of which he had been a member since the inception of the farm program, president of the Columbia County Livestock Association, board member of the Washington State Farm Bureau, member of the Mt. Valley grange, The Columbia county Farm Bureau, the Dayton Chamber of Commerce, and Knights Pythias lodge and active in other local and civic affairs.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Pearl McCauley, and three children, Mrs. Edred Holman, College Place; Eugene McCauley, Los Angeles; and Marion Pearl of Dayton, his mother, Mrs. S. M. McCauley of Dayton; and three grandchildren. He also leaves four brothers George, of Dufur, Oregon; Elmer, Alfred and Clifton, all of Dayton; and one sister Mrs. Chas. Conner of Dayton.

M. L. McCauley, whose sudden death Thursday evening deprived the northwest of a sincere farm leader, is shown above in a typical pose indicating his ever present sense of humor.
